Its Global Contexts Marco Abel, Jaimey Fisher, 2025-01-14 Contributors explore these films transnational circuits of production distribution and exhibition as well as how the films were made and received thereby inviting us to reexamine the roots of what New German Cinema was and imagine what it might yet become New German Cinema, 1982 The New German Cinema John Sandford, 1982-08-21 Examining the New German Cinema as a whole Sandford provides a film by film study of seven directors locating their achievements within a frame of developments in television drama documentaries and the political history of contemporary Germany itself He also surveys the thematic concerns that dominate or are notably absent from these films From publisher description The A to Z of German Cinema Robert C. Reimer, Carol J.

Reimer, 2010-04-01 German film is diverse and multi faceted its history includes five distinct German governments Wilhelmine Germany the Weimar Republic the Third Reich the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic two national industries Germany and Austria and a myriad of styles and production methods Paradoxically the political disruptions that have produced these distinct film eras as well as the natural inclination of artists to rebel and create new styles allow for the construction of a narrative of German film While the disjuncture generates distinct points of separation it also highlights continuities between the ruptures Outlining the richness of German film The A to Z of German Cinema covers mainstream alternative and experimental film from 1895 to the present through a chronology introductory essay appendix of the 100 most significant German films a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on directors actors films cinematographers composers producers and major historical events that greatly affected the direction and development of German cinema The book's broad canvas will lead students and scholars of cinema to appreciate the complex nature of German film A New History of German Cinema Jennifer M. Kapczynski, Michael David Richardson, 2012 A dynamic event centered exploration of the hundred year history of German language film This dynamic event centered anthology offers a new understanding of the hundred year history of German language film from the earliest days of the Kintopp to contemporary productions like The Lives of Others Each of the more than eighty essays takes a key date as its starting point and explores its significance for German film history pursuing its relationship with its social political and aesthetic moment While the essays offer ample temporal and topical spread this book emphasizes the juxtaposition of famous and unknown stories granting attention to a wide range of cinematic events Brief section introductions provide a larger historical and film historical framework that illuminates the essays within it offering both scholars and the general reader a setting for the individual texts and figures under investigation Cross references to other essays in the book are included at the close of each entry encouraging readers not only to pursue familiar trajectories in the development of German film but also to trace particular figures and motifs across genres and historical periods Together the contributions offer a new view of the multiple intersecting narratives that make up German language cinema The constellation that is thus established challenges unidirectional narratives of German film history and charts new ways of thinking about film historiography more broadly Jennifer Kapczynski is Associate Professor of German at Washington University St Louis and Michael Richardson is Associate Professor of German at Ithaca College

The Concise Cinegraph ans-Michael Bock,,im Bergfelder,2009-09-01 This comprehensive guide is an ideal reference work for film specialists and enthusiasts First published in 1984 but continuously updated ever since CineGraph is the most authoritative and comprehensive encyclopedia on German speaking cinema in the German language This condensed and substantially revised English language edition makes this important resource available to students and researchers for the first time outside its German context It offers a representative historical overview through bio filmographical entries on the main protagonists from the beginnings to the present day Included are directors and actors writers and cameramen composers and production designers film theorists and critics producers and distributors inventors and manufacturers An appendix includes short introductory essays on specific periods and movements such as Early Film Weimar Nazi Cinema DEFA New German Cinema and German film since unification as well as on cinematic developments in Austria and Switzerland Sections that crossreference names around specific professional groups and themes will prove equally invaluable to researchers

A Critical History of German Film Stephen Brockmann,2010 A history of German film dealing with individual films as works of art has long been needed Existing histories tend to treat cinema as an economic rather than an aesthetic phenomenon earlier surveys that do engage with individual films do not include films of recent decades This book treats representative films from the beginnings of German film to the present Providing historical context through an introduction and interchapters preceding the treatments of each era s films the volume is suitable for semester or year long survey courses and for anyone with an interest in German cinema The films The Student of Prague The Cabinet of Dr Caligari The Last Laugh Metropolis The Blue Angel M Triumph of the Will The Great Love The Murderers Are among Us Sun Seekers Trace of Stones The Legend of Paul and Paula Solo Sunny The Bridge Young T rless Aguirre The Wrath of God Germany in Autumn The Marriage of Maria Braun The Tin Drum Marianne and Juliane Wings of Desire Maybe Maybe Not Rossini Run Lola Run Good Bye Lenin

Reimer, 2019-07-15 The History of German film is diverse and multi faceted This volume can only suggest the richness of a film tradition that includes five distinct German governments Wilhelmine Germany the Weimar Republic the Third Reich the Federal Republic of Germany West Germany and the German Democratic Republic East Germany s well as a reunited Germany two national industries Germany and Austria and a myriad of styles and production methods Paradoxically the political disruptions that have produced these distinct film eras as well as and the natural inclination of artists to rebel and create new styles allow for construction of a narrative of German film Disjuncture generates distinct points of separation and yet also highlights continuities between the ruptures This second edition of Historical Dictionary of German Cinema contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 200 cross referenced entries on directors actors films cinematographers composers producers and major historical events that greatly affected the direction and development of German cinema This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about German cinema enabling today's professionals to improve on the realities of yesterday. The stories in this book clearly show that modern concepts such as data abstraction, modularity, and structured approaches date much earlier in the field than their appearance in academic literature. These stories help capture the true evolution. The book illustrates human experiences and industry turning points through personal recollections by the pioneers, people like Barry Boehm, Peter Denning, Watts Humphrey, Frank Land, and a dozen others.

Film and History James Chapman, 2017-09-16. Film is the pre-eminent mass medium of the modern age. It is a valuable source of evidence for the study of both the past and the contemporary world and is a social practice that has affected the lives of millions. How can historians engage with this important and influential medium? Written for both students and teachers, Film and History provides a concise, accessible introduction to the use of film in historical enquiry and a summary of the main theoretical debates. Charts the development of film history as a subject area and a discipline in its own right. Considers different approaches to film history including film as an art form, as ideology, as a historical source, and as a social practice. Includes case studies to ground discussion of theories and approaches in specific examples. Wide-ranging and authoritative, Film and History equips students with the methods both to analyse film texts and to understand the place of film in history and culture.

Deterritorializing the New German Cinema John E. Davidson, 1993

Nation and Identity in the New German Cinema Inga Scharf, 2008-06-30. In this original study, Scharf investigates issues of national identity in films of the New German Cinema. Using a cultural studies analysis, Scharf argues that the conflict between this generation of critical filmmakers and their Germanness translates into feature films that construct and are pervaded by a sense of homelessness at home. As the first cultural studies investigation of this cinematic movement, the book challenges existing film studies accounts by analyzing the New German Cinema within its social, temporal, and spatial contexts. Furthermore, with its broad concerns for the West German production context, the New German Cinema's reception both nationally and internationally, as well as issues of representation, narration, and Othering, Nation and Identity in the New German Cinema offers an interdisciplinary contribution to the ongoing debate on national cinema.

New German Cinema Julia Knight, 2004. Comprising a discussion of Alice in the Cities, The Bitter Tears of Petra von Kant, Heimat, and The American Friend, Julia Knight's study examines the American dominance of German film, the framework of European art cinema, and how German cinema engages with contemporary German reality.

The History of German Literature on Film Christiane Schönfeld, 2023-06-15. A 2024 CHOICE OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC TITLE. This book tells the story of German language literature on film, beginning with pioneering motion picture adaptations of Faust in 1897 and early debates focused on high art as mass culture. It explores, analyzes, and contextualizes the so-called golden age of silent cinema in the 1920s, the impact of sound on adaptation practices, the abuse of literary heritage by Nazi filmmakers, and traces the role of German language literature in exile and postwar films across ideological boundaries in divided Germany, in New German Cinema, and in remakes and movies for cinema as well as television and streaming services in the 21st century. Having provided the narrative core to thousands of films since the late 19th century many of German cinema's most influential masterpieces were inspired by canonical texts popular plays and even children's literature Not being restricted to German adaptations however this book also traces the role of literature originally written in German in international film productions which sheds light on the interrelation between cinema and key historical events It outlines how processes of adaptation are shaped by global catastrophes and the emergence of nations by materialist conditions liberal economies and capitalist imperatives political agendas the mobility of individuals and sometimes by the desire to create reflective surfaces and perhaps even art Commercial cinema's adaptation practices have foregrounded economic interest but numerous filmmakers throughout cinema history have turned to German language literature not simply to entertain but as a creative contribution to the public sphere marking adaptation practice at least potentially as a form of active citizenship
