The Politics to Come Arthur Bradley, Paul Fletcher, 2010-02-18 The Politics to Come brings together an international collection of thinkers to consider the meaning of liberal democratic modernity at a moment when its future has never been less certain It examines the explosive threats the liberal order confronts today financial meltdown religious extremism environmental catastrophe Yet it also seeks to place these singularly modern crises within a much longer history For the contributors to this collection it is the ancient religious tradition called the messianic that provides the critical lens through which modernity may be interrogated In its ongoing struggles with the messianic liberal modernity confronts the promise and threat of a radically new Politics to Come So what are the Politics to Come How do they manifest themselves throughout history Why does the possibility of a messianic judgement continue to haunt the western political imaginary This collection offers a series of political philosophical and theological perspectives from which the future of liberal modernity if it has one can be imagined

The Metaphysics of Night Matthew Del Nevo, 2017-09-08 The Metaphysics of Night acknowledges a post secular philosophy one that puts philosophy into serious dialogue with religion rather than considering religion a thing of the past Matthew Del Nevo deals with the cultural unconscious inseparable from religious consciousness and draws on psychoanalysis and literature as well as philosophy The metaphysics of the night is Del Nevo's metaphor for the deep and mysterious expanse of the soul Philosophically the book is critical of Enlightenment presumptions about knowledge and truth and overly spiritualizing tendencies in religion Its critical edge cuts against materialist and historicist tendencies in the humanities and abstract intellectualism in philosophy Arguing for strong aesthetic values Del Nevo defends and explains soul and soulful experience the creation of depth the ineffable real presence beauty and saving words noting that the sources of all these are in us but often are blocked Each of the five parts of this book testify to what the author notes may be forgotten but which ought not to be forgotten It is necessary for life as socially religiously and educationally instituted within culture and as constitutive for culture Del Nevo deals with sensibility as a form of wisdom and instinct that is not cognitive or knowledge information based He argues for a shift of emphasis in culture from intellect to intuition This well written work filled with Catholic philosophic and artistic thought will be of interest to all philosophers theologians and students of culture

Head Cases Elaine Miller, 2014-02-25 While philosophy and psychoanalysis privilege language and conceptual distinctions and mistrust the image the philosopher and psychoanalyst Julia Kristeva recognizes the power of art and the imagination to unblock important sources of meaning She also appreciates the process through which creative acts counteract and transform feelings of violence and depression Reviewing Kristeva's corpus Elaine P Miller considers the intellectual's aesthetic idea and thought specular in their capacity to reshape depressive thought on both the individual and cultural level She revisits Kristeva's reading of Walter Benjamin with reference to melancholic art and the imagination's allegorical structure her analysis of Byzantine iconoclasm in relation to Freud's psychoanalytic theory of negation and Hegel

s dialectical negativity her understanding of Proust as an exemplary practitioner of sublimation her rereading of Kant and Arendt in terms of art as an intentional lingering with foreignness and her argument that forgiveness is both a philosophical and psychoanalytic method of transcending a stuck existence Focusing on specific artworks that illustrate Kristeva's ideas from ancient Greek tragedy to early photography contemporary installation art and film Miller positions creative acts as a form of spiritual inoculation against the violence of our society and its discouragement of thought and reflection

Capps,2001-01-01 This book presents selections from Freud s writings on religion and from the work of five more recent contributors to the psychoanalytic study of religion David Bakan Erik H Erikson Heinz Kohut Julia Kristeva and D W Winnicott It is the first collection of texts in the psychology of religion that is oriented more toward religious studies than toward the study of psychology In his introduction Donald Capps points out that psychoanalysis resembles religions in the way in which its founding documents Freud s own writings have been closely read have evoked interpretive battles and have been reassessed and reapplied in response to changing social and cultural circumstances He notes that just as Freud s writings on religion focus on the biblical text the majority of the authors included here do likewise showing how the Bible may be read psychoanalytically Both Freud and his successors says Capps also reflect the high value that the Christian culture of the West has placed on painting and sculpture revealing the importance of perception and imagination to the psychoanalytic study of religion Capps highlights the ways in which all the Freudians work intertextually with Freud's writings with the writings of other authors included in the book and with other writings of their own
