Baron, 2013-12-09 During the nineteenth century New Orleans thrived as the epicenter of classical music in America outshining New York Boston and San Francisco before the Civil War and rivaling them thereafter While other cities offered few if any operatic productions New Orleans gained renown for its glorious opera seasons Resident composers performers publishers teachers instrument makers and dealers fed the public's voracious cultural appetite Tourists came from across the United States to experience the city's thriving musical scene. Until now, no study has offered a thorough history of this exciting and momentous era in American musical performance history. John H. Baron's Concert Life in Nineteenth Century New Orleans impressively fills that gap. Baron's exhaustively researched work details all aspects of New Orleans's nineteenth-century musical renditions, including the development of orchestras, the surrounding social, political, and economic conditions, and the individuals who collectively made the city a premier destination for world-class musicians. Baron includes a wide-ranging chronological discussion of nearly every documented concert that took place in the Crescent City in the 1800s, establishing Concert Life in Nineteenth Century New Orleans as an indispensable reference volume. Baltzell, 2017-07-15. The plan of arrangement used in this book has in view a combination of the recitation and lecture systems and affords an opportunity for teachers to apply the best principles of both. The paragraph headings should be thoroughly fixed in mind, and close attention should be given to the words in heavy type and italics that occur in the body of a paragraph; together they form a convenient outline for the lesson. The questions at the end of each lesson are to be used to test the pupils' mastery of the lesson material; all available works of reference should be consulted for fuller information than the limited space of one book will admit of each member of the class preparing one or more abstracts to be read before the class. The review outlines and suggestions are to be used in the same way, special attention being given to written answers.
