Fault Lines in the Orthodox World Sebastian Rimestad,Emil Hilton Saggau,2025-03-06 Throughout the past years the Orthodox world has seen numerous political and theological confrontations New borders have been shaped by churches and states This only increased in light of the Russian backed conflict in Ukraine from 2014 and onwards which has led to new theological lines of thinking geopolitical confrontations and an acute need for diplomatic handling of crisis At the centre is the Russian Orthodox Church s global role and its effects in Ukraine The confrontations are born out of a complex entanglement of church politics theological differences legal tensions national allegiances and the very concrete political and military clashes between nation states In light of the war in Ukraine Global Orthodoxy has seen new fault lines in the making This volume gathers chapters that shed light on these entanglements and their political theological and geopolitical consequences The book is not limited to the Russian Ukrainian conflict but also includes papers focusing on other nations churches and aspects theological theoretical geopolitical empirical etc Language, Ideology, and the Human Dusan Radunović,Sanja Bahun,2016-04-15 Language Ideology and the Human New Interventions redefines the critical picture of language as a system of signs and ideological tropes inextricably linked to human existence Offering reflections on the status

discursive possibilities and political ideological and practical uses of oral or written word in both contemporary society and the work of previous thinkers this book traverses South African courts British clinics language schools in East Timor prison cells cinemas literary criticism textbooks and philosophical treatises in order to forge a new diversified perspective on language ideology and what it means to be human This truly international and interdisciplinary collection explores the implications that language always materialising in the form of a historically and ideologically identifiable discourse as well as the concept of ideology itself have for the construction definition and ways of speaking about the human Thematically arranged and drawing together the latest research from experts around the world Language Ideology and the Human offers a view of language ideology and the human subject that eschews simplifications and binary definitions With contributions from across the social sciences and humanities this book will appeal to scholars from a range of disciplines including sociology cultural studies anthropology law linguistics literary studies philosophy and political science

Medievalism in Finland and Russia Reima Välimäki, 2022-11-03 Since the end of the Cold War the Middle Ages has returned to debates about history culture and politics in Northern and Eastern Europe This volume explores political medievalism in two language areas that are crucial to understanding global medievalism but are due to language barriers often inaccessible to the majority of Western scholars and students The importance of Russian medievalism has been acknowledged but little analysed until now Medievalism in Finland and Russia offers a selection of chapters by Russian Finnish and American scholars covering historiography presidential speeches participatory online discussions and the neo pagan revival in Russia Finland is currently even more poorly understood than Russia in the discussions about global medievalism It is usually mentioned only as of the birthplace of the Soldiers of Odin The street patrol is however a marginal phenomenon in Finnish medievalism as this volume demonstrates Instead of merely adopting the medievalist interpretation of the international alt right even the right wing populists in Finland refer more to the nationalistic medievalist tradition where crusades do not mark a Western Christian victory over the Muslim East but a Swedish occupation of Finnish lands In addition to presenting particular cases of medievalism the chapters here on Finland challenge and diversify today's prevailing interpretation of shared online medievalism of European and American right wing populists This book reveals that while medievalisms in Finland and Russia share many features with the contemporary Anglo American medievalist imaginations they also display many original characteristics due to particular political situations and indigenous medievalist traditions They have their own meta medievalisms cumulative core ideas and interpretations about the medieval past that are thoroughly examined here in English for the very first time

Anthropology & Archeology of Eurasia, 2004 Re-Constructing Grassroots Holocaust Memory Irina Rebrova, 2020-10-26 The main objective of the book is to allocate the grass roots initiatives of remembering the Holocaust victims in a particular region of Russia which has a very diverse ethnic structure and little presence of Jews at the same time It aims to find out how such individual initiatives correspond to the official Russian hero orientated concept of remembering the Second World war with almost no attention to the memory of war victims including Holocaust victims North Caucasus became the last address of thousands of Soviet Jews both evacuees and locals While there was almost no attention paid to the Holocaust victims in the official Soviet propaganda in the postwar period local activists and historians together with the members of Jewish communities preserved Holocaust memory by installing small obelisks at the killing sites writing novels and making documentaries teaching about the Holocaust at schools and making small thematic exhibitions in the local and school museums Individual types of grass roots activities in the region on remembering Holocaust victims are analyzed in each chapter of the book Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1995 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world s leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals

A History of Russian Literature Andrew Kahn,Mark Lipovetsky,Irina Reyfman,Stephanie Sandler,2018-04-05 Russia possesses one of the richest and most admired literatures of Europe reaching back to the eleventh century A History of Russian Literature provides a comprehensive account of Russian writing from its earliest origins in the monastic works of Kiev up to the present day still rife with the creative experiments of post Soviet literary life The volume proceeds chronologically in five parts extending from Kievan Rus in the 11th century to the present day The coverage strikes a balance between extensive overview and in depth thematic focus Parts are organized thematically in chapters which a number of keywords that are important literary concepts that can serve as connecting motifs and case studies in depth discussions of writers institutions and texts that take the reader up close and Visual material also underscores the interrelation of the word and image at a number of points particularly significant in the medieval period and twentieth century The History addresses major continuities and discontinuities in the history of Russian literature across all periods and in particular bring out trans historical features that contribute to the notion of a national literature The volume's time range has the merit of identifying from the early modern period a vital set of national stereotypes and popular folklore about boundaries space Holy Russia and the charismatic king that offers culturally relevant material to later writers This volume delivers a fresh view on a series of key questions about Russia's literary history by providing new mappings of literary history and a narrative that pursues key concepts rather more than individual authorial careers This holistic narrative underscores the ways in which context and text are densely woven in Russian literature and demonstrates that the most exciting way to understand the canon and the development of tradition is through a discussion of the interrelation of major and minor figures historical events and literary politics literary theory and literary innovation

From Empire to Eurasia Sergey Glebov, 2017-05-15 The Eurasianist movement was launched in the 1920s by a group of young Russian migrants who had recently emerged from years of fighting and destruction Drawing on the cultural fermentation of Russian modernism in the arts and literature as well as in politics and scholarship the movement sought to reimagine the former imperial space in the wake of Europe's Great War The Eurasianists argued that as an heir to the nomadic empires of the steppes Russia should follow a non-European path of development In the context of rising Nazi and Soviet powers the Eurasianists rejected liberal democracy and sought alternatives to Communism and capitalism Deeply connected to the Russian cultural and scholarly milieu Eurasianism played a role in the articulation of the structuralist paradigm in interwar Europe However the movement was not as homogenous as its name may suggest Its founders disagreed on a range of issues and argued bitterly about what weight should be accorded to one or another idea in their overall conception of Eurasia In this first English language history of the Eurasianist movement based on extensive archival research Sergey Glebov offers a historically grounded critique of the concept of Eurasia by interrogating the context in which it was first used to describe the former Russian Empire This definitive study will appeal to students and scholars of Russian and European history and culture
