Politics The African Development Bank:

Politics and the African Development Bank Karen A. Mingst, 2021-05-11 The African continent has long been plagued by economic problems During the 1970s with famines and two oil crises the attention of the international donor community was riveted on Africa In the 1980s international organizations both governmental and private have responded to the African crises One increasingly visible organization is the African Development Bank recently heralded by the Wall Street Journal as the rarest of African species a success Founded in 1964 by African governments its mandate was to solve African problems using African resources But the devastation of the 1970s forced bank members to reexamine the implications of Africanity and in 1982 the bank courted nonregional members In this first academic study of the ADB Karen Mingst argues that the bank is a political institution not the functional economically neutral organization originally envisioned Using bank archives and extensive interviews with ADB personnel contractors the economic development community and national government officials Mingst analyzes the changing political relationships in the ADB in three arenas intraorganizational politics with effects on the secretariat and on policy issues political relations with other development organizations and hegemonic politics among politically and economically powerful state members Particularly fascinating are her analyses of ADB techniques to influence borrowing states and her discussion of the cooperative and competitive relationship between the ADB and the World Bank Mingst concludes by comparing the ADB with the other multilateral development banks the Inter American Development Bank and the Asian Development Bank This book will interest all policymakers and scholars concerned with international organizations economic development and the entire future of Africa

The African Development Bank E. Philip English, Harris M. Mule, 1995 This work looks at the policies and projects of the African Development Bank which like other multilateral banks has come under growing criticism from grassroots organisations environmental groups and others Economy in the Twenty-First Century Ernest T. Aniche, Stephen N. Azom, Emeka C. Iloh, 2023-09-12. African Political Economy in the Twenty-First Century: Theories, Perspectives, and Issues edited by Emeka C. Iloh, Ernest T. Aniche, and Stephen N. Azom fills the gap in the discourses on African political economy from an African perspective. Since the end of colonialism in the second half of the twenty-first century, a wide-ranging debate has opened on the future of African development and the nature and character of its political economy, especially as it concerns its web of relationships in the international political and economic system. Two decades into the twenty-first century, the debate still rages on and is likely to continue for a long time. This book contributes to the debate by addressing the important question of how African countries can strategically and tactically approach global political economy at multilateral, continental, and regional levels in view of North-South versus South-South configurations. African Political Economy in the Twenty-First Century further suggests how African countries can effectively utilize global forces to Africa's advantage in advancing domestic, regional, and continental development objectives.

Global Economic Governance and the Development Practices of the Multilateral Development Banks Susan Park, Jonathan R. Strand, 2015-08-27. As pillars of the post-1945 international economic system, the Regional and Sub-Regional Development Banks (RSDBs) have long been considered mini-World Banks, reiterating the policy approach of the largest official multilateral development lender in the world. The main objective of the collection is to identify what role the RSDBs play in global economic governance and why. This edited collection draws together cutting-edge original research on these understudied institutions. In the burgeoning sub-field of global economic governance, as well as the broader study of international organisations, IOs too often the focus remains on the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund (IMF). Second-order IOs such as the RSDBs receive much less attention despite their longevity and regional importance. This volume corrects this oversight by bringing together methodologically diverse research on the RSDBs that interrogates the role and impact of these organisations in global economic governance. The book investigates the African Development Bank (AfDB), the Asian Development Bank (AsDB), the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD) and select sub-regional development banks in comparison to the World Bank Group. This work will be of great interest to students and scholars of IPE IR and Development Studies

Peacebuilding, Power, and Politics in Africa Devon Curtis, Gwinyayi A. Dzinesa, 2012-09-21 Peacebuilding Power and Politics in Africa is a critical reflection on peacebuilding efforts in Africa. The authors expose the tensions and contradictions in different clusters of peacebuilding activities including peace negotiations, statebuilding, security sector governance and disarmament, demobilization and reintegration. Essays also address the institutional framework for peacebuilding in Africa and the ideological underpinnings of key institutions including the African Union, NEPAD, the African Development Bank, the Pan African Ministers Conference for Public and Civil Service, the UN Peacebuilding Commission, the World Bank and the International Criminal Court. The volume includes on the ground case study chapters on Sudan, the Great Lakes Region of Africa, Sierra Leone and Liberia, the Niger Delta, Southern Africa and Somalia, analyzing how peacebuilding operates in particular African contexts. The authors adopt a variety of approaches but they share a conviction that peacebuilding in Africa is not a script that is authored solely in Western capitals and in the corridors of the United Nations. Rather, the writers in this volume focus on the interaction between local and global ideas and practices in the reconstitution of authority and livelihoods after conflict. The book systematically showcases the tensions that occur within and between the many actors involved in the peacebuilding industry as well as their intended beneficiaries. It looks at the multiple ways in which peacebuilding ideas and initiatives are reinforced, questioned, reappropriated and redesigned by different African actors. A joint project between the Centre for Conflict Resolution in Cape Town, South Africa and the Centre of African Studies at the University of Cambridge.

Regional Development Banks in Comparison Ruth Ben-Artzi, 2016-09-08 In a study that contributes to international relations and international political economy theory, Ruth Ben Artzi raises substantive issues relating to aid, development, international relations and globalization. Regional development banks (RDBs) designed by politicians and economists to maneuver through labyrinths of economic, social and political development possess the potential to be central players in the long term planning involved in healing and advancing poverty plagued regions. However, RDBs in particular have received little attention. With a systematic analysis comparing four central regional development banks, this book explores why there is a variation in strategy despite similar institutional design. The formal arrangements and raison d'être of RDBs is to assist developing countries in the process of poverty alleviation, a task that is often a risky investment. Focusing on the dichotomy between their banking and development roles, Ben Artzi demonstrates that RDBs are potentially critical catalysts in the fight against poverty even with their institutional limitations.

Politics and Pan-Africanism Dawn Nagar, 2019-12-12 Offering an examination of the diplomatic and economic regional power structures in Africa and their relationships with each other, Dawn Nagar discusses the potential and future of pan-Africanism. The three primary regional economic communities (RECs) that are recognised by the African Union as the key building blocks of a united Africa are examined: these are the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA), the East African Community (EAC) and the Southern African Development Community (SADC).

SADC These RECS include Africa's major economies Egypt South Africa and Kenya but are also home to Africa's most conflict prone and volatile states the Democratic Republic of the Congo DRC Burundi South Sudan Somalia and Lesotho Providing a detailed overview of the current relationship between these power blocs this book provides insight into the current state of diplomatic and economic relations within Africa and shows how far there is to go for a future of Pan Africanism

The Top Books of the Year Politics The African Development Bank The year 2023 has witnessed a remarkable surge in literary brilliance, with numerous engrossing novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of top-selling books, exploring the engaging narratives that have charmed audiences this year. Politics The African Development Bank : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has gripped readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover skillfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids absorbing storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Politics The African Development Bank : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens spins a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of compelling stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Pape, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
