Pompidou Center:

The Museum Establishment and Contemporary Art Rebecca J. DeRoo, 2006-01-09 This book provides an in depth account of the protests that shook France in 1968 and which served as a catalyst to a radical reconsideration of artistic practice that has shaped both art and museum exhibitions up to the present Rebecca DeRoo examines how issues of historical and personal memory the separation of public and private domains and the ordinary objects of everyday life emerged as central concerns for museums and for artists as both struggled to respond to the protests She argues that the responses of the museums were only partially faithful to the aims of the activist movements Museums in fact often misunderstood and misrepresented the work of artists that was exhibited as a means of addressing these concerns Analyzing how museums and critics did and did not address the aims of the protests DeRoo highlights the issues relevant to the politics of the public display of art that have been central to artistic representation in France as well as in North America

Museum Media

Michelle Henning, 2020-11-17 MUSEUM MEDIA Edited by Michelle Henning Museum Media explores the contemporary uses of diverse media in museum contexts and discusses how technology is reinventing the museum It considers how technological changes from photography and television through to digital mobile media have given rise to new habits forms of attention and behaviors It explores how research methods can be used to understand people s relationships with media technologies and display techniques in museum contexts as well as the new opportunities media offer for museums to engage with their visitors Entries written by leading experts examine the transformation of history and memory by new media the ways in which exhibitions mediate visitor experience how designers and curators can establish new kinds of relationships with visitors the expansion of the museum beyond its walls and its insertion into a wider commercial and corporate landscape Focusing on formal theoretical and technical aspects of exhibition practice this in depth volume explores questions of temporality attachment to objects atmospheric and immersive exhibition design the reinvention of the exhibition medium and much more
