Servants. By M. G. C. M. G. C., 1866 WORDS for Thinking AND THOUGHTS for Meditation Paul Krebill, 2004-05-13

WORDS for Thinking AND THOUGHTS for Meditation is a Christian resource for an ordered and effective spiritual devotional experience. Life concerns as well as social and ethical issues are considered in the light of God's message through Jesus Christ. Readers will find in this volume three hundred and sixty-six daily devotional readings. Each day's devotional has a suggested scripture reference as the basis for a brief comment provided for the day. In addition, each reading includes a short prayer. These can be used in a family or small group setting as well as privately. Since each day's devotional reading contains a separate and complete message, one can begin using this volume at any time and continue on a daily inspired journey of faith for one's life. In addressing personal and social issues, I have drawn upon more than forty years of pastoral ministry as well as upon a life-long study of Christian theology. In this way, I believe my sharing in the real struggles of persons facing life problems and my awareness of the accumulated insights of Christian thinkers come together in this book of devotions, which is designed to give the reader thoughts upon which to meditate along life's way. The Practice of Christian Perfection. Written in Spanish ... Translated Into English by Sir John Warner Out of the French Copy of Mr. Regnier Des-Marais, Etc Saint Alonso Rodríguez, 1806 Print and Protestantism in Early Modern England Ian Green, 2000-11-02

In this highly innovative study, Ian Green examines the complete array of Protestant titles published in England from the 1530s to the 1720s. These range from the large specialist volumes at the top to cheap tracts at the bottom, from radical on one wing to conservative on the other, and from instructive and devotional manuals to edifying and entertaining works such as religious verse and cautionary tales. Wherever possible, the author adopts a statistical approach to permit a focus on those works which sold most copies over a number of years, and in an annotated Appendix provides a brief description of over seven hundred best-selling or steady-selling religious titles of the period. A close study of these texts and the forms in which they were offered to the public suggests a rapid diversification of both the types of work published and of the readerships at which they were targeted. It also demonstrates shrewd publishers' frequent attempts to plug gaps in a rapidly expanding market. Where previous studies of print have tended to focus on the polemical and the sensational, this one highlights the didactic, devotional, and consensual elements found in most steady-selling works. It is also suggested that in these works there were at least three Protestantisms on offer: an orthodox clerical version, a moralistic rational version favoured by the educated laity, and a popular version that was barely Protestant at all, and that the impact of these probably varied both within and between different readerships. These conclusions shed much light not only on the means by which English Protestantism was disseminated but also on the doctrinally and culturally diffused nature of English Protestantism by the end of the Stuart period. Both the text and the appendix should prove invaluable to anyone interested in the history of the Reformation or in printing as a medium of education and communication in early modern England The Living Church ,1904 The American Catalog ,1881 The Catholic literary circular , The Baptist Magazine ,1855 Gospel Messenger ,1959 The Oxford Handbook of Early Modern English Literature and Religion Andrew Hiscock,Helen Wilcox,2017 This handbook scrutinises the links between English literature and religion specifically in the early modern period the interactions between the two fields are explored through an examination of the literary impact the British church had on published work in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Time, Temporality, and Imperial Transition Lynn A.
