Foust, 2003 Poetry Winner of the 2003 Sawtooth Poetry Prize judged by Joe Wenderoth who comments in his introduction There are many ways to hear it takes off the top of my head For me the most important way to hear it is it makes me suddenly and oddly aware that I am alive aware that I am simultaneously at the end and the beginning of my power which is simply to be there and to say so Foust's poems do this for me I feel akin to the mute struggler that lurks all around these poems that eludes so many attempts at saying that and where and how he is The struggle is in my view dignified never self congratulatory never self pitying and it has produced sounds for us to come back to sounds for us to set out from Joe Wenderoth from the introduction      Picturing Death 1200-1600 Stephen Perkinson, Noa Turel, 2020-11-16 Picturing Death 1200 1600 explores the visual culture of mortality over the course of four centuries that witnessed a remarkable flourishing of imagery focused on the themes of death dying and the afterlife In doing so this volume sheds light on issues that unite two periods the Middle Ages and the Renaissance that are often understood as diametrically opposed The studies collected here cover a broad visual terrain from tomb sculpture to painted altarpieces from manuscripts to printed books and from minute carved objects to large scale architecture Taken together they present a picture of the ways that images have helped humans understand their own mortality and have incorporated the deceased into the communities of the living Contributors Jessica Barker Katherine Boivin Peter Bovenmyer Xavier Dectot Maja Dujakovic Brigit Ferguson Alison C Fleming Fredrika Jacobs Henrike C Lange Robert Marcoux Walter S Melion Stephen Perkinson Johanna Scheel Mary Silcox Judith Steinhoff and Noa Turel      Cur Aliquid Vidi Lance Phillips, 2004 Poetry Why did I have to see something translates the title to Lance Phillips extraordinary second collection and if the question is Ovid's it also remains any poet's who follows the exilic logic of language Revisioning myth CUR ALIQUID VID I mines the eros in language and discovers how it must ultimately reach agape What is the purpose of the exile's word to the community which excludes him To be instructed by what is absent Read and be instructed Claudia Keelan      The Pacific Review , 1997      The American Humanities Index Stephen H. Written during the two years following the death of her husband Miriam Sagan's THE WIDOW'S COAT paints landscapes of bleak astonishment that he is no longer alive vivid images of his continued presence in the everyday experience of memory and jumbled ranges of confusion and surprise as she finds herself once again in love with a childhood sweetheart When the worst befalls the best sometimes amazed music occurs Miriam Sagan eulogizes and exalts so that we're able to feel our own griefs while rejoicing that she has articulated loss so bravely and well Joan Logghe Dead Women Talking Brian Norman, 2012-11-15 Brian Norman uncovers a curious phenomenon in American literature dead women who nonetheless talk These characters appear in works by such classic American writers as Poe Dickinson and Faulkner as well as in more recent works by Alice Walker Toni Morrison Tony Kushner and others These figures are also emerging in contemporary culture from the film and best selling novel The Lovely Bones to the hit television drama Desperate Housewives Dead Women Talking demonstrates that the dead especially women have been speaking out in American literature since well before it was fashionable Norman argues that they voice concerns that a community may wish to consign to the past raising questions about gender violence sexuality class racial injustice and national identity When these women insert themselves into the story they do not enter precisely as ghosts but rather as something potentially more disrupting posthumous citizens The community must ask itself whether it can or should recognize such a character as one of its own The prospect of posthumous citizenship bears important implications for debates over the legal rights of the dead social histories of burial customs and famous cadavers and the political theory of citizenship and social death Leonard Cassuto author of Hard Boiled Sentimentality The Secret History of American Crime Stories
