The Preacher's Complete Homiletical

Commentary on the Old Testament: Lamentations, 1892 NEW TESTAMENT CONTEXTUAL COMMENTARY Dr.

Robert R. Seyda, 2024-05-16 Here John advises us that loving one another is not an option or a suggestion it is a commandment John doesn't want any believer to become like Adam and Eve's firstborn Cain That happened because Cain was under the influence of Satan This is therefore a warning not to mess with the world So what if they hate us We are bound for everlasting life in the presence of God That's why death has no power over us And that's why if our thoughts do not tell us that we are guilty we will not be afraid to come to God We can pray to God and we can ask Him to help us He will give us what we ask Him for That is because we obey His commands and we do the things that please Him Furthermore we should all love each other because God makes us able to love other people Everyone who loves other people confirms our claim to be a child of God If anyone says clearly that Jesus is the Son of God God lives in that person And that person lives together with God We know the kind of love that God has for us That's why if we love God we will not be afraid of Him So how do we know that we love God's children We know it when we love God and we do what He tells us to do Connections: A Lectionary Commentary for Preaching and Worship Joel B. Green, Thomas G. Long, Luke A. Powery, Cynthia L. Rigby, Carolyn J.

Sharp, 2020-04-14 Designed to empower preachers as they lead congregations to connect their lives to Scripture Connections features a broad set of interpretive tools that provide commentary and worship aids on the Revised Common Lectionary This nine volume series offers creative commentary on each reading in the three year lectionary cycle by viewing that reading through the lens of its connections to the rest of Scripture and then seeing the reading through the lenses of culture film fiction ethics and other aspects of contemporary life Commentaries on the Psalms make connections to the other readings and to the congregations experience of worship Connections is published in partnership with Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary Preaching in the Last Days Rodney Lawrence Petersen, 1993 Reform minded movements have long appealed to the Apocalypse for it served to whet the visionary appetite Early in the church's history speculation grew up around the text Revelation 11:3-13 depicting two witnesses or prophets who preach at the end of history against the beast from the abyss the epitome of evil called Antichrist Different interpretive methodologies have discovered different meanings in the text and a symbolic value for political or ecclesial reform has been identified with it throughout the history of its use The witnesses have been linked to a time of culminating evil to the final proclamation of hope and to the end of history associated with divine judgment Such speculation found ample expression in medieval literature art and drama In the writings of reformers however the story acquired increased social implications The text of the Apocalypse came to lend visionary strength to Protestant piety polity and political activity and the adventual witnesses became increasingly visible in Protestant polemics Anglo American commentators in particular have used the text both for self identity and as part of a formula for plotting the onset of Christ's millennial reign Tracing the history of how the Apocalypse was read Preaching in the Last Days sheds light on how social groups are formed through ideas occasioned by texts Petersen s study provides a fascinating look at the theological significance of how we read biblical texts and offers new insights on the development of culture the Christian movement and its churches The book has added importance for understanding the assumptions behind the ways in which the book of Revelation is read and used in our own day
