Family-Centred Perinatal Care Beverley Chalmers, 2017-04-03 Since childbirth became a medicalized and usually hospitalized event a century ago women's and families psychosocial needs have been relegated to a somewhat peripheral role within the clinically focussed hierarchy of medical care This text reinstates psychosocial issues as a primary focus of care together with clinical excellence Family centred care is a familiar phrase in today's maternity services with professional guidelines and hospital policies including the term in their care protocols however few definitions and no specific standards for family centred care exist While all caregivers and care services are likely to define their care as sensitive to women's needs and family centred the actual implementation of a family centred approach despite it being a current fashion in care is still inadequate This book clearly defines family centred perinatal care and outlines how truly family centred care can and should be implemented and how and where this has been done Pregnancy, Birth, and Parenthood Glynnis Tucker,1992

Techno-Sapiens Robbie Davis-Floyd, 2021-03-31 This ground breaking book challenges us to re-think ourselves as techno sapiens, a new species we are creating as we continually co-evolve ourselves with our technologies. While some of its chapters are imaginary, they are all empirically grounded in ethnography and richly theorized from diverse disciplines. The authors go far beyond a techno optimism vs techno pessimism stance, stretching our thinking about birthing techno sapiens to consider not only how our cyborgian reproductive lives are constrained and/or enabled by technology but are also about emotions and spirit. The world of reproductive health care and particularly that of genetic engineering is developing exponentially and current challenges are vastly different from those of a decade ago. The book is provocative, intended to generate debate, ideas and future research and to influence ethical policy and practice in human techno reproduction. It will be of interest across the social sciences and humanities for reproductive scholars, bioethicists, techno scientists and those involved in the development and delivery of maternity services.
