The Image of Political Power in the Reign of Nerva, AD 96-98 Nathan T. Elkins, 2017 At age 65 Nerva assumed the role of emperor of Rome just sixteen months later his reign ended with his death Nerva's short reign robbed his regime of the opportunity for the emperor's imperial image to be defined in building or monumental art leaving seemingly little for the art historian or archaeologist to consider In view of this paucity studies of Nerva primarily focus on the historical circumstances governing his reign with respect to the few relevant literary sources The Image of Political Power in the Reign of Nerva AD 96-98 by contrast takes the entire imperial coinage program issued by the mint of Rome to examine the self representation and by extension the policies and ideals of Nerva's regime The brevity of Nerva's reign and the problems of retrospection caused by privileging posthumous literary sources make coinage one of the only ways of reconstructing anything of his image and ideology as it was disseminated and developed at the end of the first century during the emperor's lifetime The iconography of this coinage and the popularity and spread of different iconographic types as determined by study of hoards and finds and as targeted towards different ancient constituencies offers a more positive take on a little studied emperor Across three chapters Elkins traces the different reverse types and how they would have resonated with their intended audiences concluding with an examination of the parallels between text and coin iconography with previous and subsequent emperors The Image of Political Power in the Reign of Nerva AD 96-98 thus offers significant new perspectives on the agents behind the selection and formulation of iconography in the late first and early second century showing how coinage can act as a visual panegyric similar to contemporary laudatory texts by tapping into how the inner circle of Nerva's regime wished the emperor to be seen

The Customs Law of Asia M. Cottier, M. H. Crawford, C. V. Crowther, J. L. Ferrary, B. M. Levick, O. Salomies, M. Wörrle, 2008-12-18 The Roman Empire was based on law and it was vital for rulers and ruled that laws should be understood They were often given permanent form in stone or bronze This book transcribes translates and fully illustrates with photographs the inscription more than 155 lines in its damaged state that carries the regulations drawn up over nearly two centuries for the customs dues of the rich province of Asia western Turkey The regulations taken from Roman archives were set up in Greek in Ephesus and the book provides a rendering of the text back into Latin The damaged text is hard to restore and to interpret Six scholars offer line by line commentary and five essays bring out its significance from the Gracchi to Nero for Rome's government and changing attitudes towards provincial subjects for the historical geography of the Empire for its economic history and for the social life of Roman officials The Numismatic Chronicle, 1997 The rules of the Numismatic Society of London bound with New Series 1 The Silver Coinage of Septimius Severus and His Family, 193-211 A.D. Haim Gitler, Matthew Ponting, 2003 Ashmolean Museum, Oxford: Asia Minor, Caria to Commagene (except Cyprus) Ashmolean Museum, 2013 The Hunterian Museum, University of Glasgow, Part I John Goddard, 2004 The publication of the great eighteenth century collection of William Hunter in Glasgow University marks an important stage in the British SNG project This catalogue of the first half of the Hunterian's Roman Provincial coins illustrates the 2428 coins produced in the West and East as far as Commagene Greek Imperial coins have perhaps still to be fully appreciated in the context of the Roman Empire From the death of Caesar to the reign of Diocletian almost a thousand cities in the provinces issued coins with types and inscriptions that symbolize their cultural identity The coins published in this substantial volume offer a wealth of information about many aspects of local life in that period including religion architecture and administration
