alive and relevant Models of Charitable Care: Catholic Nuns and Children in their Care in Amsterdam, 1852-2002
Annelies van Heijst, 2008-06-30 Models of Charitable Care analyses the practice of Catholic nuns in Amsterdam in the 19th and 20th century. Attention is paid to the ambiguous ascetic spiritual discourse that underpinned their work; it encouraged charity as solidarity with strangers but caused intense emotional distance too. Historiography is mainly manufactured by religious and lay academics who shared the congregational perspective and presented fairly positive evaluations. Criticism from within however is voiced by care leavers who grew up in homes run by religious. Some are grateful, others bitter. The sisters were living models who combined an anti-worldly outlook with a practical concern for vulnerable creatures. Relating various theoretical interpretations, a typology of three models is developed with agency as the differentiating criterion.

Irish Nuns and Education in the Anglophone World Deirdre Raftery, 2024-01-08 This book charts the history of how Irish-born nuns became involved in education in the Anglophone world. It presents a heretofore undocumented study of how these women left Ireland to establish convent schools and colleges for women around the globe. It challenges the dominant narrative that suggests that Irish teaching Sisters, also commonly called nuns, were part of the colonial project and shows how they developed their own powerful transnational networks. Though they played a role in the education of the daughters of the Empire, they retained strong bonds with Ireland, reproducing their own Irish education in many parts of the Anglophone world.

Refugee Nuns, the French Revolution, and British Literature and Culture Tonya J. Moutray, 2016-03-22 In eighteenth-century literature, negative representations of Catholic nuns and convents were pervasive. Yet during the politico-religious crises initiated by the French Revolution, a striking literary shift took place as British writers championed the cause of nuns, lauded their socially relevant work, and addressed the attraction of the convent for British women. Interactions with Catholic religious, including priests and nuns, Tonya J. Moutray argues, motivated writers including Hester Thrale Piozzi, Helen Maria Williams, and Charlotte Smith to reevaluate the historical and contemporary utility of religious refugees. Beyond an analysis of literary texts, Moutray's study also examines nuns' personal and collective narratives as well as news coverage of their arrival to England, enabling a nuanced investigation of a range of issues including nuns' displacement and imprisonment in France, their rhetorical and practical strategies to resist authorities, representations of refugee migration to and resettlement in England, relationships with benefactors and locals, and the legal status of English nuns and convents in England, including their work in recruitment and education. Moutray shows how writers and the media negotiated the multivalent figure of the nun during the 1790s, shaping British perceptions of nuns and convents during a time critical to their survival. The Diary
