Historical Series The Women's Army Corps, 1945-1978 Bettie J. Morden, 1990 The Women's Army Corps makes a significant contribution to women's history and the history of the Army. Bettie J. Morden weaves the ideas and moral attitudes that existed in the middle decades of the twentieth century to chronicle thirty three years of WAC history from V J Day 1945 to 20 October 1978 when the Women's Army Corps was abolished by Public Law 95 584 and discontinued by Department of the Army General Order 20 with the WAC officers assimilated into the other branches of the Army except the combat arms. For the most part taking a chronological approach Morden focuses on the interaction of plans decisions and personalities that affected the WAC directors as they pushed and prodded the Army the Department of Defense and Congress to achieve Regular Army and Reserve status military credit for Women's Army Auxiliary Corps service and promotion above the grade of lieutenant colonel. The early WAC directors according to Morden had the task of fighting for progress and equity whereas their successors fought a losing battle to keep entry standards high and to retain the corps separate status. She provides readers with a comprehensive picture of WAC growth and development and the transformation in the status of Army women brought by the advent of the all volunteer Army and the women's rights movement of the seventies.

KEY-WORD-IN-CONTEXT (KWIC) INDEX TO HUMAN RESOURCES RESEARCH OFFICE BIBLIOGRAPHY OF PUBLICATIONS AS OF 30 JUNE 1965, 1965 The Air Reservist, 1953 Test Policy in Defense Bernard R. Gifford, Linda C. Wing, 2012-12-06 Bernard R. Gifford and Linda C. Wing Standardized testing has become a ubiquitous feature of American life. As a major source of information for reducing uncertainty in the allocation of merit based educational training and employment opportunities testing affects the life chances of individuals. Moreover testing influences the way in which our society judges itself and provides for our collective future. Test scores may determine a child's admission to kindergarten and promotion to the first grade. Most states award the high school diploma only if a student has passed a minimum competency test. Major institutions of higher education typically require applicants to supplement their records of academic achievement with scores on college admissions tests. In the labor market as a condition of employment or assignment to training programs more and more employers are requiring workers to sit for personnel selection tests. Additionally it has become commonplace to use test scores to calibrate our national sociopolitical condition and our capacity to compete with other countries in the global economy. In short with increasing frequency and intensity scores on examinations that purport to be objective and precise measures of individual knowledge abilities and potential are playing a critical role in the opportunity marketplace. Similarly test scores are exercising growing influence in assessments of our social and economic institutions and in policy decisions about the relative investments that should be made in each. In all these instantiations test scores are at the center of high stakes decision making about the future of individuals and of the nation itself.
