Non-Exhaust Emissions Fulvio Amato, 2018-01-02 Non Exhaust Emissions An Urban Air Quality Problem for Public Health comprehensively summarizes the most recent research in the field also giving guidance on research gaps and future needs to evaluate the health impact and possible remediation of non exhaust particle emissions With contributions from some of the major experts and stakeholders in air quality this book comprehensively defines the state of the art of current knowledge gaps and future needs for a better understanding of particulate matter PM emissions from non exhaust sources of road traffic to improve public health PM is a heterogeneous mix of chemical elements and sources with road traffic being the major source in large cities. A significant part of these emissions come from non-exhaust processes such as brake-tire road wear and road dust resuspension. While motor exhaust emissions have been successfully reduced by means of regulation, non-exhaust emissions are currently uncontrolled and their importance is destined to increase and become the dominant urban source of particle matter by 2020. Nevertheless, current knowledge on the non-exhaust emissions is still limited. This is an essential book to researchers and advanced students from a broad range of disciplines such as public health, toxicology, atmospheric sciences, environmental sciences, atmospheric chemistry and physics, geochemistry, epidemiology, built environment, road and vehicle engineering, and city planning. In addition, European and local authorities responsible for air quality and those in the industrial sectors related to vehicle and brake manufacturing and technological remediation measures will also find the book valuable. Acts as the first book to explore the health impacts of non-exhaust emissions. Authored by experts from several sectors including academia, industry and policy. Gathers the relevant body of literature and information defining the current knowledge gaps and future needs.
