Diefendorf, Axel Frohn, Hermann-Josef Rupieper, 1993 This volume of essays by German and American historians discusses key issues of US policy toward Germany in the decade following World War II The Royal Navy and German Naval Disarmament, 1942-1947 Chris Madsen, 1998 This book examines the formulation and the implementation of the Royal Navy's policy towards German naval disarmament after the Second World War Information Hunters Kathy Lee Peiss, 2020 The country of the mind must also attack Librarians and collectors go to war The wild scramble for documents Acquisitions on a Grand Scale Fugitive Records of War Book Burning American Style Not a Library but a Large Depot of Loot Interrogation Nation Keith R. Allen, 2017-05-25 This groundbreaking book explores the treatment of the millions of refugees and tens of thousands of spies that flooded Germany after World War II Drawing on newly declassified espionage files Keith R Allen uncovers long hidden interrogation systems that were developed by Germany's western occupiers to protect internal security and gather intelligence about the Soviet Union He shows how vetting in the name of public order brought foreign intelligence officials into practically every venue from train stations to corporate boardrooms to private dwellings in postwar West Germany At the heart of efforts to extract insights were extensive personalized efforts by law enforcement and security officials to manipulate desires and emotions involving dearest family members closest friends and trusted colleagues Linking personal narratives of those interrogated to the international context of postwar politics Allen reveals a compelling world inhabited by spies and refugees Allen's study illuminates the places personalities and practices of refugee interrogation in one of Europe's most successful postwar states As calls for intense scrutiny of refugees have grown dramatically Allen illustrates how decisions to shortchange the rights of migrants in periods of heightened ideological and military tension may contribute to long term threats to personal liberties and the rule of law

Potential History Ariella Aïsha Azoulay, 2019-11-19 In this theoretical tour de force renowned scholar Ariella Asha Azoulay calls on us to recognize the imperial foundations of knowledge and to refuse its strictures and its many violences Azoulay argues that the institutions that make our world from archives and museums to ideas of sovereignty and human rights to history itself are all dependent on imperial modes of thinking Imperialism has segmented populations into differentially governed groups continually emphasised the possibility of progress while trying to destroy what came before and voraciously sought out the new by sealing the past away in dusty archival boxes and the glass vitrines of museums By practising what she calls potential history Azoulay argues that we can still refuse the imperial violence that shattered communities lives and worlds from native peoples in the Americas to the Congo ruled by Belgium's brutal King Leopold II from dispossessed Palestinians in 1948 to displaced refugees in our own day In Potential History Azoulay travels alongside historical companions an old Palestinian man who refused to leave his village in 1948 an anonymous woman in war ravaged Berlin looted objects and documents torn from their worlds and now housed in archives and museums to chart the ways imperialism has sought to order time space and politics Rather than looking for a new future Azoulay calls upon us to rewind history and unlearn our imperial rights to continue to refuse imperial violence by making present what was invented as past and making the repair of torn worlds the substance of politics
