The Life and Letters of William Sharp and "Fiona Macleod". Volume 2: 1895-1899 William F. Halloran, 2020-04-14

What an achievement! It is a major work. The letters taken together with the excellent introductory sections so balanced and judicious and informative what emerges is an amazing picture of William Sharp the man and the writer which explores just how fascinating a figure he is. Clearly a major reassessment is due and this book could make it happen.

Andrew Hook Emeritus Bradley Professor of English and American Literature Glasgow University

William Sharp 1855-1905 conducted one of the most audacious literary deceptions of his or any time. Sharp was a Scottish poet, novelist, biographer and editor who in 1893 began to write critically and commercially successful books under the name Fiona Macleod. This was far more than just a pseudonym; he corresponded as Macleod, enlisting his sister to provide the handwriting and address and for more than a decade Fiona Macleod duped not only the general public but such literary luminaries as William Butler Yeats and in America E. C. Stedman. Sharp wrote: "I feel another self within me now more than ever; it is as if I were possessed by a spirit who must speak out."

This three-volume collection brings together Sharp's own correspondence, a fascinating trove in its own right by a Victorian man of letters who was on intimate terms with writers including Dante Gabriel Rossetti, Walter Pater and George Meredith and the Fiona Macleod letters which bring to life Sharp's intriguing second self. With an introduction and detailed notes by William F. Halloran, this richly rewarding collection offers a wonderful insight into the literary landscape of the time while also investigating a strange and underappreciated phenomenon of late nineteenth-century English literature. It is essential for scholars of the period and it is an illuminating read for anyone interested in authorship and identity.

Literary Research and the Anglo-Saxon and Medieval Eras Dustin Booher, Kevin B. Gunn, 2020-02-20

Literary Research and the Anglo-Saxon and Medieval Eras: Strategies and Sources is a guide to scholarly research in the field of medieval English literature covering the period 450 CE to 1500 CE. Graduate students and scholars researching this period face many challenges: working in two distinct literary traditions, comprehending multiple languages (Old English, Middle English, Latin, Anglo-Norman, and French), knowing the manuscript tradition for a particular title, and the research methodologies for discovering and locating primary sources in the print and digital realms. This volume presents the best practices for building a foundation of sound scholarship practices in the field of medieval English literature. This volume explores primary and secondary resources including general literary research guides, types of library catalogs, print and online bibliographies and indexes, scholarly journals and series, manuscripts, archives, and digital collections, genres, tools for understanding Old and Middle English (such as dictionaries, lexicons, thesauri, glosses, etymologies, palaeographies, and text mining tools), and Web resources. The final chapter researches the shifting reputation of the poet Thomas Hoccleve Given the interdisciplinary nature of medieval studies an appendix of additional readings in art history music philosophy religion science social sciences and theater is provided
