

Anita Ekberg is depicted in a dynamic, mid-dance pose, wearing a vibrant red, two-piece outfit with a long, flowing skirt and a matching top. Her blonde hair is styled in soft waves, and her eyes are closed in a moment of artistic expression. Her arms are extended horizontally, and her legs are spread wide, one leg bent and the other extended. The background is a plain, light color, making the red dress stand out.

This book informs students and practitioners of the health professions about workplace bullying and how to recognise it. The health professions have among the highest rates of bullying of any occupational group. This book shines a light on bullying and its very real human consequences for health professionals. Statistics about bullying in health present a disturbing picture. However they don't convey the human impact on people who only want to do good for others. The author begins by telling how her experiences spurred her to write this book and then introduces the champions twelve health professionals who contributed their stories. The book starts with the champions decision to become a health professional and then describes their bullying experiences the impact on almost every aspect of their lives and careers and how they tried to resolve or deal with the bullying. Some were still dealing with bullying and all felt they had been forever changed by their experiences. The stories show that bullying is much more than the actions of a few it is deeply embedded in the culture of institutions responsible for providing quality health care. Better preparation for leadership positions and independent processes for reporting unacceptable behaviours and actions are two suggestions for tackling bullying and its consequences. This book shows the necessity to expose these appalling behaviours and their human costs in order to address workplace bullying and create a healthy and safe environment for everyone in healthcare. This volume is aimed at undergraduate and postgraduate students and practitioners of nursing and other health professions the general public and other stakeholders of health services. It will enhance their understanding of ability to recognise and strategies to cope with workplace bullying.

African Film and Literature Lindiwe Dovey, 2009. Analyzing a range of South African and West African films inspired by African and non African literature. Lindiwe Dovey identifies a specific trend in contemporary African filmmaking one in which filmmakers are using the embodied audiovisual medium of film to offer a critique of physical and psychological violence. Against a detailed history of the medium's savage introduction and exploitation by colonial powers in two very different African contexts. Dovey examines the complex ways in which African filmmakers are preserving mediating and critiquing their own cultures while seeking a united vision of the future. More than merely representing socio cultural realities in Africa these films engage with issues of colonialism and postcolonialism updating both the history and the literature they adapt to address contemporary audiences in Africa and elsewhere. Through this deliberate and radical re historicization of texts and realities Dovey argues that African filmmakers have developed a method of filmmaking that is altogether distinct from European and American forms of adaptation.
