Odi Et Amo

John O'Neill

Odi Et Amo:

Odi et amo Gaius Valerius Catullus, 197? The Waves Virginia Woolf, 1998 One of Woolf's most experimental novels. The Waves presents six characters in monologue from morning until night from childhood into old age against a background of the sea. The result is a glorious chorus of voices that exists not to remark on the passing of events but to celebrate the connection between its various individual parts. Odi et amo Catulle, 1959 Fables of the Self Rosanna Warren, 2008. Fables of the Self traces ideas of imagined selfhood through the lyric poetry of classical Greece and Rome, the modernist poetry of France, and modern and contemporary English and American lyrics. Rosanna Warren's work emerges from the tradition of British and American poet critics such as William Empson, Donald Davie, and Randall Jarrell. Her readings of Sappho, Virgil, Baudelaire, Melville, Rimbaud, Mark Strand, and Louise Glück, among others, combine Helen Vendler's passionate attention to detail and something of Harold Bloom's panoramic view. Warren opposes both the literalizing autobiographical approach to self in so-called confessional poetry and the other extreme of avant-garde erasures of self. Framing her critical studies between a memoir of childhood and a concluding journal entry, Warren has composed an occult autobiography showing the imagination as a transfiguring and potentially moral force. The Moralia of 1596, Part 1 Jacob Handl, 1970-06-01 Martial: Select Epigrams Martial, Lindsay Watson, 2003-06-05. Despite his enduring popularity, Martial has recently suffered from serious critical neglect. The present work is the first edition of selections from Martial to be published for decades and includes a fully representative selection of the oeuvre of the poet who has often been criticised unfairly. The authors argue for obscenity and flattery of the Emperor Domitian. The epigrams included in the selection are organised under various heads, e.g. Martial and poetry, sexual mores, satirical pieces. A very full introduction deals with such topics as the prejudices and predilections of his audience, which conditioned Martial's choice of subject matter, Martial's language, the structure and style of the epigrams, the epigrammatic tradition, and Martial's creative engagement with it. The detailed commentary is suitable for use with undergraduates and is distinguished by its focus on social history as well as literary interpretation. Confucius to Cummings Ezra Pound, Marcella Spann, 1964. Nearly a hundred poets are represented, a number of them in Pound's translations, with emphasis on the Greek, Latin, Chinese, Troubadour, Renaissance, and Elizabethan poets. Odi Et Amo, 1987 Mixed Feelings Douglas Cairns, Pia Campeggiani, 2025-06-02. Affective valence typically refers to the way an affective state feels, i.e. the quality of the displeasure we subjectively experience. Fear usually feels unpleasant, while joy feels good. Yet sometimes affective experience feels bittersweet, i.e. good and bad at the same time, as when we enjoy being scared on the roller coaster or being sad when reading a heart-rending novel. In these situations, mixed affect is experienced as a blended state in which positive and negative aspects cannot be prised apart in any meaningful way. But mixed affect can also arise from conflicting emotions, e.g. when we desire something that we also wish to avoid, from ambivalence, e.g. when we are of two minds about something, and more. Taking a cross-cultural and multidisciplinary perspective this volume aims to enrich our understanding of the phenomenology of mixed affective experiences It explores narrative representations of mixed emotions in historical and literary works in both Western and Eastern traditions as well as the theorization of such experiences in these traditions It will be of interest to students and scholars of literature especially classical Chinese Greek Indian and Latin history of emotions and philosophy Virginia Woolf, Europe, and Peace Peter Adkins, Derek Ryan, 2020-07-09 This volume asks how Woolf conceptualized peace by exploring various experimental forms she created in response to violence and crisis Across fifteen chapters written by an international array of scholars this book draws out theoretical dimensions of Woolf's aesthetics and deepens our understanding of her writing about war ethics feminism and European culture The Cambridge History of Classical Literature E. J. Kenney, W. V. Clausen, 1982 The Cambridge History of Classical Literature provides a comprehensive critical survey of the literature of Greece and Rome from Homer till the Fall of Rome This is the only modern work of this scope it embodies the very considerable advances made by recent classical scholarship and reflects too the increasing sophistication and vigour of critical work on ancient literature The literature is presented throughout in the context of the culture and the social and historical processes of which it is an integral part The overall aim is to offer an authoritative work of reference and appraisal for one of the world's greatest continuous literary traditions The work is divided into two volumes each with a similar and broadly chronological structure Among the special features are important introductory chapters by the General Editors on Books and Readers discussing the conditions under which literature was written and read in antiquity There are also extensive Appendices on Authors and Works giving detailed factual information in a convenient form Technical annotation is otherwise kept to a minimum and all quotations in foreign languages are translated Ezra Pound and Roman Poetry: A Preliminary Survey Peter Davidson, 2023-08-14 Ezra Pound and Roman Poetry is an examination of a crucial phase in the development of Pound as translator and therefore of creative translation in the twentieth century The book provides a survey of Pound's attempt to appropriate the poetry of Classical Rome by tracing the histories of the poet's involvement with Horace Virgil Catullus Ovid and Propertius in order to express his own marginal position within London during the First World War No extensive critical discussion is attempted but attention is given to Pound's critical writings on the Latin poets as well as his translations from their work Dr Davidson also treats other aspects of Pound's problematic relation to the Classical Tradition the use and abuse of dictionaries Laforgue and Baudelaire as a third term haunting Pound's translations the difficult monolith of English classicism the invention of an oppositional romanitas It is hoped that this work may encourage others to produce the comprehensive survey which Pound's sustained and Protean relationship to the classical languages would appear to demand Pound's readings of Latin poetry are inevitably readings also of English poetry in the context of England and particularly London in the first two decades of the twentieth century Auto-da-fé J.
