The Dynamics of International Student Circulation in a Global Context

,2008-01-01 Student mobility is the most important factor in the internationalization of higher education In this book existing assumptions will be questioned that mobility is primarily South North and North North and that South South flows are rather marginal that the economic rationale has become so dominant that there are nearly no other motives to be found anymore and that the growing presence of national and international providers of higher education and opportunities for distance education reduce the need for international student mobility The dynamics of international student circulation will be analyzed on the basis of four countries Egypt India Indonesia and South Africa which are perceived to be primarily on the sending side of student mobility and Europe and the USA which are perceived to be primarily but not exclusively on the receiving side These case studies will be placed in the context of broader developments in the internationalization of higher education and related to definitions methodological issues and global data as used by UNESCO OECD and others This study has been undertaken by five scholars from different parts of the world in the context of the 2005 2006 New Century Scholars Programme Higher Education in the Twenty First Century of the Fulbright Programme The book will be of relevance for both researchers and practitioners on globalization and the internationalization of higher education

World Yearbook of Education 2008 Debbie Epstein,Rebecca Boden,Rosemary Deem,Fazal Rizvi,Susan Wright,2013-01-11 This volume examines higher education in globalized conditions through a focus on the spatial historic and economic relations of power in which it is embedded Distinct geometries of power are emerging as the knowledge production capability of universities is increasingly globalized Changes in the organization and practices of higher education tend to travel from the West to the rest Thus distinctive geographies of knowledge are being produced intersected by geometries of power and raising questions about the recognition production control and usage of university produced knowledge in different regions of the world What flows of power and influence can be traced in the shifting geographies of higher education How do national systems locate themselves in global arenas and what consequences does such positioning have for local practices and relations of higher education How do universities and university workers respond to the increasing commodification of knowledge How do consumers of knowledge assess the quality of the goods on offer in a global marketplace The 2008 volume of the World

yearbook addresses these questions highlighting four key areas Producing and Reproducing the University How is the university adapting to the pressures of globalization Supplying Knowledge What structural and cultural changes are demanded from the university in its new role as a free market supplier of knowledge Demanding Knowledge Marketing and Consumption How can consumers best assess the quality of education on a global scale Transnational Academic Flows What trends are evident in the flow of students knowledge and capital with what consequences The 2008 volume is interdisciplinary in its approach drawing on scholarship from accounting finance and human geography as well as from the field of education Transnational influences examined include UNESCO and OECD GATS and the effects of digital technologies Contrasting contexts include Central and Eastern Europe Finland China and India and England With its emphasis on the interrelationship of knowledge and power and its attention to emergent spatial inequalities Geographies of Knowledge Geometries of Power Framing the Future of Higher Education provides a rich and compelling resource for understanding emergent practices and relations of knowledge production and exchange in global higher education OECD Economic Surveys: Korea 2007 OECD,2007-06-20 This 2007 edition of OECD s periodic Economic Survey of Korea examines key economic challenges now being faced there After an examination of recent macroeconomic trends it looks at monetary policy housing and regional policies the fiscal International Business Strategy Peter J Buckley,Pervez Ghauri,2015-02-20 With stagnated demand in many home economies the need to internationalize and exploit foreign market opportunities has never been more paramount for businesses to succeed at a global level However this process raises a number of questions such as can firms use their knowledge of one market in the next Can firms pursue internationalization on several fronts at the same time How should firms handle cultural and institutional differences between markets This textbook provides students with the core research in international business and strategy including organization efficiency external relationships and the challenges found in an increasingly multicultural world Each part begins with a presentation of the issues and controversies faced in that particular area followed by a synthesis of the research which provides avenues for future research To facilitate and encourage further debate and learning each part also includes at least one original case study Compiled by two of the World s leading scholars of international business and supplemented with critical commentaries and a range of integrative case studies this comprehensive textbook provides advanced students of international business and strategy with a resource that will be invaluable in their studies and beyond OECD Science, Technology and Industry Outlook 2010 OECD,2010-12-21 The OECD Science Technology and Industry Outlook 2010 reviews key trends in science technology and innovation in OECD countries and a number of major emerging economies including Brazil China India Russia and South Africa Mainstreaming Ageing Asghar Zaidi,2017-09-29 The Madrid International Plan of Action on Ageing MIPAA adopted at the Second World Assembly on Ageing is the first international agreement that specifically recognises the potential of older people to contribute to the development of their societies In monitoring its implementation two key approaches are evident a qualitative bottom up participatory approach and an approach that uses quantitative indicators to monitor sustainable progress and policies With the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research playing a pivotal role in the monitoring of the implementation process one of its key tasks has been to develop a list of indicators of achievement This book contains extended and revised versions of policy briefs and background papers that support the implementation monitoring process The analyses included in these chapters make concrete suggestions towards quantitative indicators with the aim of assisting national governments in mainstreaming ageing in their policies The contributors provide an overview of the current situation with respect to population ageing and its consequences and also provide projections for the future The book also includes the final list of quantitative indicators that arose out of consultations with international experts related to the four main topics addressed demography income and wealth labour market participation and social protection and financial sustainability
