A History of Twentieth-century African Literatures Oyekan Owomoyela, 1993-01-01

African literatures says volume editor Oyekan Owomoyela testify to the great and continuing impact of the colonizing project on the African universe African writers must struggle constantly to define for themselves and other just what Africa is and who they are in a continent constructed as a geographic and cultural entity largely by Europeans This study reflects the legacy of colonialism by devoting nine of its thirteen chapters to literature in Europhone languages English French and Portuguese Foremost among the Anglophone writers discussed are Nigerians Amos Tutuola Chinua Achebe and Wole Soyinka Writers from East Africa are also represented as are those from South Africa Contributors for this section include Jonathan A Peters Arlene A Elder John F Povey Thomas Knipp and J Ndukaku Amankulor In African Francophone literature we see both writers inspired by the French assimilationist system and those influenced by Negritude the African culture affirmation movement Contributors here include Servanne Woodward Edris Makward and Alain Ricard African literature in Portuguese reflecting the nature of one of the most oppressive colonizing projects in Africa is treated by Russell G Hamilton Robert Cancel discusses African language literatures while Oyekan Owomoyela treats the question of the language of African literatures Carole Boyce Davies and Elaine Savory Fido focus on the special problems of African women writers while Hans M Zell deals with the broader issues of publishing censorship resources and organization

Historical Dictionary of Malawi Owen J. M. Kalinga, 2012 Malawi established as the British protectorate of Nyasaland in 1891 gained its independence in 1964 and moved immediately into three decades of one party rule Since the mid 1990s however the country has held multi party elections as directed by its constitution and President Bingu wa Mutharika is currently serving his second term The fourth edition of the Historical Dictionary of Malawi now newly expanded and updated covers a wide range of areas in Malawi history including the rise and fall of state systems religious and socio political movements the economy environment transportation war disease and natural sciences Author Owen J M Kalinga charts developments from pre history to the post Banda Malawi from Tom Bokwito to James Sangala and from the UMCA mission at Magomero to the second term of Bingu wa Mutharika s presidency paying particular attention to the individuals groups communities and forces that have molded this South African country

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods

Drawing the Map of Heaven Tanure

Ojaide,2012-06-28 The celebrated Nigerian writer Tanure Ojaide relates here his experience of living in the United States where he has been based teaching and writing since 1996 Drawing the Map of Heaven picks up where his earlier memoir Great Boys An African Childhood which charted his upbringing in Nigeria by his Grandmother left off Less a purely personal tale and more a story of the many other African immigrants in the United States Ojaide in the text uses we to speak collectively for a traditionally communal society now residing in an individualistic setting As much a reflection of an African background as an American experience Drawing the Map of Heaven is a unique portrait of the African in the United States

Hypocrisy of the African Public Finance Management Framework Kamudoni Nyasulu,2017-09-21 Huge headlines across Africa have lamented the debilitating effects of corruption and fraud on the African economies and development But is Africa ready for this fight Do the antifraud practitioners possess strategies to equip Africa for this fight This book highlights some of the major challenges facing developing and post conflict African countries with regard to among others 1 policy political will and legal framework in the prevention and deterrence of fraud and corruption 2 strategies and coordination of institutional frameworks and institutions 3 lack of human and infrastructural resources and 4 the time and energy intensive nature of fraud detection investigation and resolution The leadership and citizens of these countries are aware of the effects of fraud and corruption but lack the strategies and sometimes the resources to prevent deter detect investigate or resolve fraud and corruption incidences This is compounded by huge deficits in compliance because laws are either ignored or deliberately contravened and regulations and ethical practices are circumvented The book makes comments on some initiatives that have been tried at different levels of governance to stimulate debate in search of effective approaches to equip Africa fight fraud and corruption

The Penguin Book of Modern African Poetry Gerald Moore,2007-08-30
