Reports of Cases Argued and Determined in the Superior Court of the City of New York Anthony L. Robertson,1868 Reports of Cases Argued and Determined in the Superior Court of the City of New York New York (State). Superior Court (New York),1868 Outbreak of the Irish Rebellion of 1641 M. Perceval-Maxwell,1994-03-31 Perceval Maxwell gives considerable attention to the structure of the Irish parliament in 1640 and 1641 and the decisions made by that body in both the Commons and the Lords He argues that initially there was a broad consensus between Protestant and Catholic members of parliament on the way Ireland should be governed and on constitutional matters relating to the three kingdoms but that this consensus was not shared by those who controlled the Irish council He places particular emphasis on negotiations between members of the Irish parliament who were sent to England and the English council and on the way events in Ireland influenced both English and Scottish opinion In this context the army raised in Ireland to counter the Scottish covenanters and the failure to ship this army abroad before the rebellion broke out were of crucial importance Perceval Maxwell contends contrary to the opinion of other historians that Charles I was not primarily responsible for this failure and was not plotting to use this army against the English parliament The author explains the plotting that actually took place and provides an account of the initial months of the rebellion as it spread from county to county In conclusion he reveals how the rebellion was perceived in England and Scotland and how these perceptions contributed to the outbreak of civil war in England Why the Irish rebellion was important outside of its Irish context is well known but this book is the first to deal with how it became significant It will be of particular interest to British as well as Irish historians Chambers's Encyclopædia: Lab.-Num ,1880 The History of the County and City of Cork Charles Bernard Gibson,1861 A Short History of the Irish People Alexander George Richey,1887 Calendar of the State Papers Relating to Ireland, of the Reigns of Henry VIII., Edward VI., Mary, and Elizabeth Great Britain.
