Mental Health Systems Compared R. Paul Olson,2006 The primary objective of this book is to provide comprehensive descriptions and make comparative evaluations of each of the mental health systems of four Western industrialized countries The countries selected illustrate a continuum from a highly centralized and publicly financed national health service in Great Britain to a predominantly decentralized and more privately financed market of mental health services in the United States In between these two contrasting types are examples of national health services and insurance programs in Norway and Canada

Contributing experts from each country begin their chapters with an overview of the geographic demographic political economic and cultural contexts in which their mental health systems are situated. Thereafter they present national data to estimate the need for mental health services, b describe national mental health policies and programs designed to meet their population's need, c indicate how mental health services are organized and delivered, and d discuss how their system is financed and provided resources. A common chapter outline facilitates comparisons among all four systems on relevant evaluation criteria: a access and equity, b quality and efficacy, c cost and efficiency, d financing and fairness, e protection and participation, and f population relevance. In the final section of each chapter, the authors provide recommendations for improved performance of their mental health system. In the initial chapter, the editor provides an overview, introduces the four countries selected, and defines the evaluation criteria applied by all contributing authors. The final two chapters address convergence and divergence among the four systems and provide recommendations for improvement and for future comparative studies. The intended audience includes mental health policymakers, program administrators, and managers, teachers of graduate-level courses related to mental health.

Health Care Transition Albert C. Hergenroeder, Constance M. Wiemann, 2018-05-03 This comprehensive book thoroughly addresses all aspects of health care transition of adolescents and young adults with chronic illness or disability and includes the framework, tools, and case-based examples needed to develop and evaluate a Health Care Transition (HCT) planning program that can be implemented regardless of a patient's disease or disability. Health Care Transition: Building a Program for Adolescents and Young Adults with Chronic Illness and Disability is a uniquely inclusive resource incorporating youth, young adult caregiver, and pediatric and adult provider voices and perspectives. Part I of the book opens by defining Health Care Transition, describing the urgent need for comprehensive transition planning, barriers to HCT, and then offering a framework for developing and evaluating health care transition programs. Part II focuses on the anatomic and neurochemical changes that occur in the brain during adolescence and young adulthood and how they affect function and behavior. Part III covers the perspectives of important participants in the HCT transition process: youth and young adults, caregivers, and both pediatric and adult providers. Each chapter in Part IV addresses a unique aspect of developing HCT programs. Part V explores various examples of successful transition from the perspective of five key participants in the transition process: patients, caregivers, pediatric providers, adult providers, and third-party payers. Related financial matters are covered in Part VI, while Part VII explores special issues such as HCT and the medical home, international perspectives, and potential legal issues. Models of HCT programs are presented in Part VIII, utilizing an example case study. Representing perspectives from over 75 authors and more than 100 medical centers in North America and Europe, Health Care Transition: Building a Program for Adolescents and Young Adults with Chronic Illness and Disability is an ideal resource for any clinician, policy maker, caregiver, or hospitalist working with youth in transition. The Complete Book of Colleges 2021 The Princeton Review, 2020-07 The mega guide to 1,349 colleges and universities by the
