Suspended Living in Temporary Space Marco Vaudetti, Valeria Minucciani, Simona Canepa, Nilufer Saglar Onay, 2018-03-30 On 9th October 2017 the international conference Suspended Living in Temporary Space was held at the headquarters of the Architecture School of the Polytechnic of Turin. Some scholars, architects, but not only, have found themselves reflecting on the role of the architect and architecture within the almost apocalyptic scenario of the great migratory waves following disasters and emergencies with specific attention to the context of the Mediterranean area. In this scenario there are those who flee alone and with the whole family, people who leave a promising profession and others who leave almost nothing unaccompanied minors and adults. For everyone we must first and foremost guarantee the fundamental right of a refuge. It is easy to see how many studies, idea competitions, experimental projects carried out by architects to tackle this problem, but if we refer to common practice then we must recognize that the role of architecture as a discipline has been decidedly secondary. The contributions collected here testify to this double track where the most innovative experiments haven't often interfered with the reality of the facts. The origin of the participants at this conference: Turkey, Spain, Tunisia and Italy also underlined how the problem of housing emergency is particularly felt and debated in these countries also within the universities.

The Future of Heritage Science and Technologies Rocco Furferi, Lapo Governi, Yary Volpe, Francesco Gherardini, Kate Seymour, 2022-10-11 This book gathers a selection of contributions dealing with the application of mechanical engineering for preserving and managing cultural heritage. It covers advanced techniques for 3D survey modeling and simulation, reconstruction data management as well as advanced diagnostics and testing methods. It highlights strategies to foster sustainability, inclusivity, energy saving and waste reuse in preventive conservation of historical buildings and sculptures and large heritage sites. Based on contributions presented at the 3rd Florence Heri Tech International Conference held on May 16-18 2022 in Firenze, Italy, this book offers a timely source of information concerning engineering methods in heritage for both researchers and professionals in the field.

Beyond Benefit Cost Analysis Domenico Patassini, 2017-11-30 Illustrated by case studies from Europe, North America and the Middle East, this book examines how non-market values can be identified, measured and incorporated into planning evaluation methodologies. The traditional means of assessing planning options, benefit cost analysis, requires that all effects be expressed in monetary terms and this volume offers alternative approaches. It presents strategies for accomplishing the major purposes of planning evaluation, including the provision of an explicit replicable basis for public assessment in alternative ways. Growing demand for public involvement and for accountability in decision making requires better means for accommodating a broad range of concerns in planning evaluation. Methodologies examined include effectiveness cost and multicriteria analysis and the book explores how these have been applied in practice in developing special issue plans, complex regional development strategies and efforts to analyze the environmental justice implications of major infrastructure projects. Use of scenarios and problem structuring methods by stakeholder groups are also explored

The University as a Settlement Principle Francesco Zuddas, 2019-09-17 The 1960s and the 1970s marked a generational shift in architectural discourse at a time when the revolts inside universities condemned the academic institution as a major force behind the perpetuation of a controlling society Focusing on the crisis and reform of higher education in Italy The University as a Settlement Principle investigates how university design became a lens for architects to interpret a complex historical moment that was marked by the construction of an unprecedented number of new campuses worldwide Implicitly drawing parallels with the contemporary condition of the university under a regime of knowledge commodification it reviews the vision proposed by architects such as Vittorio Gregotti Giuseppe Samon Archizoom Giancarlo De Carlo and Guido Canella among others to challenge the university as a bureaucratic and self contained entity and defend instead the role of higher education as an agent for restructuring vast territories Through their projects the book discusses a most fertile and heroic moment of Italian architectural discourse and argues for a reconsideration of architecture's obligation to question the status quo This work will be of interest to postgraduate researchers and academics in architectural theory and history campus design planning theory and history

Understanding Chefchaouen Letizia Dipasquale, 2020-12-14 The medina of Chefchaouen represents an architectural heritage of great value and its building culture constitutes a repertoire of knowledge to be safeguarded as an expression of cultural diversity in the relationship between society and nature The volume presents the results of an in depth research on the knowledge system that constitutes the local building culture of the medina highlighting the characteristics of the construction systems the risks to which the traditional heritage is subject and its contribution to the development of a sustainable habitat The book addresses the theme of the built heritage of the medina with an interdisciplinary approach which includes architecture as part of a system that has to be studied along with the natural social and cultural contexts

Megastructure Reyner Banham, 2020-06-16 A long sought reprint of this classic of architectural history and criticism surveying a movement that would inspire architects fantasists and filmmakers alike It is an architectural concept as alluring as it is elusive as futuristic as it is primordial Megastructure is what it sounds like a vastly scaled edifice that can contain potentially countless uses contexts and adaptations Theorized and briefly experimented with in built form in the 1960s megastructures almost as quickly went out of fashion in the profession But Reyner Banham's 1976 book compiled the origin stories and ongoing mythos of this visionary movement seeking to chart its lively rise rapid fall and ongoing meaning Now back in print after decades and with original editions fetching well over 100 on the secondary market Megastructure Urban Futures of the Recent Past is part of the recent surge in attention to this quixotic form of which some examples were built but to this day remains decades after its codification more of a poetic idea than a real architectural type Banham among the most gifted and incisive architectural critics and historians of his time sought connections between theoretical origins in Le Corbusier's more starry eyed drawings to the flurry of theories by the Japanese Metabolist architects to less intentional examples in military architecture industry infrastructure and the emerging instances in pop culture and art Had he written the book a few years later he would find an abundance of examples in speculative art and science fiction cinema mediums where it continues to provoke wonder to this day A long sought study by an author who combined imagination wit and pioneering scholarship the republication of Megastructure is an opportunity for scholars and laypeople alike to return to the origins of this fantastic urban idea liberal pragmatic thought The emergence of European totalitarianism coincided with a major turning point in his life when towards the end of the 1930s he had to come to terms with the Nazi invasion of his country and with the local version of Stalinism After the War he was marginalised from cultural life and he died of a heart attack while being persecuted in a ferocious campaign of defamation by the Communist Party The book offers a portrait of this protagonist of European culture and of the process of rediscovery that in the 1960s reintegrated his work and his thought into the extraordinary cultural revival that blossomed in the Prague Spring of 1968 Challenges for the Italian Boating Industry Luana

Cities at Risk Pierre Fillion, Gary Sands, 2016-03-03 As levels of urbanization increase around the world the growing concentrations of population and economic activity increases vulnerability to natural disasters Interdependencies among urban populations mean that damage to the built environment including water sewer and energy infrastructure can affect millions Even if there is no change in the rate of occurrence of natural disasters an unlikely prospect in the face of ongoing climate change the potential for human and economic loss will continue to increase along with the time required to recover How do cities prepare for and recover from natural disasters In this book the authors provide a broad overview of the issues related to the impacts of disasters on cities around the world from assessing risks to accounting for damages The comparative approach across different types of disasters in a range of urban locations is useful in identifying opportunities for policy transfer While there is no one size fits all solution to hazard mitigation valuable lessons can be learned from the experiences of others The chapters emphasize different modes for assessing hazard risk as well as strategies for increasing the resiliency of vulnerable populations
