Miller, 2009 Now in its Fifth Edition this text provides a comprehensive and wellness oriented approach to the theory and practice of gerontologic nursing Organized around the author s unique functional consequences theory of gerontologic nursing the book explores normal age related changes and risk factors that often interfere with optimal health and functioning to effectively identify and teach health promotion interventions The author provides research based background information and a variety of practical assessment and intervention strategies for use in every clinical setting Highlights of this edition include expanded coverage of evidence based practice more first person stories new chapters and clinical tools such as assessment tools recommended by the Hartford Institute of Geriatric Nursing Older Adult-Led Health Promotion in Urban Communities Melvin Delgado, 2008-12-16 The subject of how best to address the current and future health needs of older adult residents in this country's urban marginalized communities is one that has also received considerable attention in academic policy and practice arenas in the past decade. A variety of models have been put forth to achieve the goal of health in these communities but one of the most promising recommendations has been the use of health promotion as a vehicle for reaching and empowering communities of color in both rural and urban America. Older adult led interventions as addressed in various sections of this book is one of the latest and most promising approaches towards health promotion that is grass roots and community participatory based. Older adult led health promotion represents an emerging field with tremendous implications for addressing the health needs of marginalized urban older adults in the United States and international

Health Promotion for Older Persons with Developmental Disabilities Susan Guralnick, 1997 The Nurse's Role in Promoting Optimal Health of Older Adults Jean W Lange, 2011-09-02 Awarded a 2012 AJN Book of the Year Award Why focus on the negative aspects of growing old while most older adults are leading positive fulfilling and active lives even while dealing with the changes associated with aging and chronic illnesses Promote healthy aging learn what it means to age successfully and develop the tools and resources that can optimize well being during the later years in life with the guidance you'll find inside The author a nationally recognized expert in the field of gerontology addresses the physical psychosocial and spiritual needs of older adults based on a holistic mid range nursing theory of successful aging Contributions from healthcare professionals in exercise physiology nutrition pharmacy and elder law help you understand how these disciplines work together to benefit patients Promoting Exercise and Behavior Change in Older Adults Patricia M. Burbank, DNSc, RN, Deborah Riebe, PhD, 2001-11-26 Exercise in later life is important for health and well being yet motivating older adults to exercise can be difficult This book addresses that need by tailoring The Transtheoretical Model of behavior change to the client's level of readiness for change The contributors show how TTM can be used to help older adults with varying needs and abilities to change their exercise behaviors This book is essential for health care professionals including nurses exercise specialists occupational therapists social workers and others interested in helping older adults incorporate exercise into their daily lives SAMHSA News, 2007 Promoting Healthy Aging Across the Lifespan Elena Carrillo-Alvarez, Miriam Rodriguez-Monforte, Jordi Vilaró, Katherine Simone McGilton, 2024-12-26 Worldwide there is a generalized trend toward aged societies Between 2015 and 2050 the proportion of the world's population over 60 years will nearly double from 12% to 22% As life expectancy continues to increase and natality rates lower not only the composition of countries will change but also its health landscape However an increased life expectancy does not necessarily mean a healthy life In most high income countries more than 20% of those years are lived in ill health due to chronic conditions caused by non communicable diseases which compromises functional ability and well being key components of healthy aging In this way not only people's lives but also societal structures are being affected Based on the life course approach to healthy aging aging starts from conception In this regard the promotion of healthy aging requires preventive strategies that enhance capacities during growth and development maintain them for as long as possible after maturity and slow down their rate of decline Moreover considering healthy aging across the lifespan entails focusing on different factors life opportunities and choices that might significantly influence health status lifestyle as well as health and social inequalities in older age and challenges the focus of most research on the topic which exclusively investigates the effect of influences operating in the later stages of life
