Morton,Myrto Mylopoulos,2020-03-19 This book introduces students to the principal issues in the philosophy of mind by tracing the history of the subject from Plato and Aristotle through to the present day Over forty primary source readings are included Extensive commentaries from the editors are provided to guide student readers through the arguments and jargon and to offer necessary historical context for the readings The new third edition examines some of the most exciting recent developments in the field including advances in theories about the mind's relation to action and agency Previous editions of this book published under the title A Historical Introduction to the Philosophy of Mind have been praised and widely taught for more than two decades

Science John Michels,1929 Sri Ramakrishna's Thoughts on Man World and God Swami Tapasyananda,2020-03-07 There is an urgent need today to make an in depth study of Sri Ramakrishna's ideas to discover his philosophy and to present it in a systematic format This book brings together Sri Ramakrishna s ideas on the three metaphysical concepts God man and universe and allied matters Present book is a set of essays originally published as editorials in the Vedanta Kesari in 1939 The material has been rearranged under suitable headings and subheadings are provided for easy reading To the common reader this book will be of immense value for it brings together Sri Ramakrishna s thought on a wide variety of subjects Tagore, Einstein and the Nature of Reality Partha Ghose,2019-04-02 This volume consists of a selection of scholarly essays from literature philosophy and history on the conception of reality as understood by Rabindranath Tagore and Albert Einstein The nature of reality has been a long debated issue among scientists and philosophers Tagore 1861 1941 met Einstein 1879 1955 at the latter s house in Kaputh Germany on 14 July 1930 and had a long conversation on this issue This conversation has been widely quoted and discussed by scientists philosophers and scholars from the literary world The important question that Tagore and Einstein discussed was whether the world is a unity dependent on humanity or the world is a reality independent of the human factor Einstein believed that reality is independent of the mind and the human factor On the other hand Tagore adopted the opposite view Nevertheless both Einstein and Tagore claimed to be realists their conceptions of reality were obviously fundamentally different Where does the difference lie Can it be harmonized at a deeper level This volume brings together for the first time a gamut of views on this subject from eminent scholars It presents some key reflections on reality language poetry truth science personality human sciences virtue ethics intelligibility and creativity It will be useful to scholars and researchers of philosophy literature history and political studies as also to those interested in Tagore The Christian Science Journal ,1917 Transactions of the Devonshire Association for the Advancement of Science, Literature and Art Devonshire Association for the Advancement of Science, Literature and Art,1881 Revival: Religion and the Sciences of Life (1934) McDougall William,2018-03-29 In author s own words In selecting these essays I have been guided partly by the desire to present matter likely to be of interest to the general reader but also I have aimed at a certain unity of topic and argument a unity indicated by the title of the volume A brief summary may help the reader to grasp that unity and to follow the somewhat scattered argument Man I contend is more than a machine and more than a mirror that reflects the world about him He is an active being with power to direct his strivings towards ideal goals and there is ground for belief that those goals are neither wholly illusory nor wholly unattainable There is no novelty about this view but there is novelty in the argument by which the conclusion is reached The same view has been propounded a thousand times by that form of wishful thinking which is commonly called philosophical In this case the conclusion has been forced by the pressure of the evidence during more than forty years of cold and sceptical inquiry The process is indicated in briefest outline in the first three essays of this volume Any reader who may desire to follow the process in more detail may turn to my various published works more especially to my Body and Mind which remains pivotal for all my later thinking Christian Science Re-Explored Margaret Laird
