The Making of the Scottish Rural Landscape David Turnock,2016-12-05 This book looks at the evolution of rural settlement in Scotland from the Mesolithic period through to the improving movement of the 18th and 19th centuries The main emphasis is on changes in society and technology but the book also considers how the development of the physical landscape laid the foundation for such changes The author strikes a balance between general perspectives including relevant contextual materials such as the political structures and local studies with much emphasis on individual sites Lack of documentation prior to the 10th century places particular importance on the archaeological evidence but imaginative interpretation of this evidence has led to a major re evaluation Ideas emphasizing continuity of settlement and local adaptation are replacing older invasionist theories emphasizing Celtic war lords and broch building pirates The Development of Neolithic House Societies in Orkney Colin Richards,Richard Jones,2016-04-30 Considering that Orkney is a group of relatively small islands lying off the northeast coast of the Scottish mainland its wealth of Neolithic archaeology is truly extraordinary An assortment of houses chambered cairns stone circles standing stones and passage graves provides an unusually comprehensive range of archaeological and architectural contexts Yet in the early 1990s there was a noticeable imbalance between 4th and 3rd millennium cal BC evidence with house structures and villages being well represented in the latter but minimally in the former As elsewhere in the British Isles the archaeological visibility of the 4th millennium cal BC in Orkney tends to be dominated by the monumental presence of chambered cairns or tombs In the 1970s Claude L vi Strauss conceived of a form of social organization based upon the house soci t s maisons in order to provide a classification for social groups that appeared not to conform to established anthropological kinship structures In this approach the anchor point is the house understood as a conceptual resource that is a consequence of a strategy of constructing and legitimizing identities under ever shifting social conditions Drawing on the results of an extensive program of fieldwork in the Bay of Firth Mainland Orkney the text explores the idea that the physical appearance of the house is a potent resource for materializing the dichotomous alliance and descent principles apparent in the archaeological evidence for the early and later Neolithic of Orkney It argues that some of the insights made by L vi Strauss in his basic formulation of soci t s maisons are extremely relevant to interpreting the archaeological evidence and providing the parameters for a social narrative of the material changes occurring in Orkney between the 4th and 2nd millennia cal BC The major excavations undertaken during the Cuween Wideford Landscape Project provided an unprecedented depth and variety of evidence for Neolithic occupation bridging the gap between domestic and ceremonial architecture and form exploring the transition from wood to stone and relationships between the living and the dead and the role of material culture The results are described and discussed in detail here enabling tracing of the development and fragmentation of soci t s maisons over a 1500 year period of Northern Isles prehistory

The Scottish Invention of America, Democracy and Human Rights Alexander Leslie Klieforth,Robert John Munro,2004-03-02 The Scottish Invention of America Democracy and Human Rights is a history of liberty from 1300 BC to 2004 AD The book traces the history of the philosophy and fight for freedom from the ancient Celts to the creation of America asserting the roots of liberty originated in the radical political thought of the ancient Celts the Scots struggle for freedom John Duns Scotus and the Arbroath Declaration 1320 a tradition that influenced Locke and the English Whig theorists as well as our Founding Fathers particularly Jefferson Madison Wilson and Witherspoon Author Alexander Klieforth argues the Arbroath Declaration 1320 and its philosophy was the intellectual foundation of the American Revolution and Declaration of Independence 1776 Thus the work is a revolutionary alternative to the traditional Anglocentric view that freedom democracy and human rights descended only from John Locke and England of the 1600s The work is the first historical analysis to locate and document the origin of the doctrine of the consent of the governed in the medieval scholar John Duns Scotus c 1290s four centuries before Locke and the English Whigs and in the evolutionary progress of mankind The work contends that the Arbroath Declaration 1320 and its philosophy was the intellectual foundation of the American Revolution and Declaration of Independence 1776 After showing the Scottish influence on the U S Constitution Bill of Rights and the new Federal government the Braudelian style work traces the development of Scottish style freedom and human rights through the French Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen influenced by Jefferson Lincoln s Gettysburg Address that transformed Jefferson s Declaration and Eleanor Roosevelt s role in creating the U N Universal Declaration of Human Rights the foundation of the modern human rights struggle More information about this book is available at the authors website www.braveheartsoul.com

Philosophical Urbanism Abraham Akkerman, 2019-10-16 This book expands on the thought of Walter Benjamin by exploring the notion of modern mind pointing to the mutual and ongoing feedback between mind and city form Since the Neolithic Age volumes and voids have been the founding constituents of built environments as projections of gender as spatial allegories of the masculine and the feminine While these allegories had been largely in balance throughout the early history of the city increasingly during modernity volume has overcome void in city form This volume investigates the pattern of Benjamin's thinking and extends it to the larger psycho cultural and urban
