BOOK JACKET Smart Chicks on Screen Laura Mattoon D'Amore, 2014-09-08 While women have long been featured in leading roles in film and television the intellectual depictions of female characters in these mediums are out of line with reality Women continue to be marginalized for their choices overshadowed by men and judged by their bodies In fact the intelligence of women is rarely the focus of television or film narratives and on the rare occasion when smart women are showcased their portrayals are undermined by socially awkward behavior or their intimate relationships are doomed to perpetual failure While Hollywood claims to offer a different more evolved look at women these movies and shows often just repackage old character types that still downplay the intelligence and savvy of women In Smart Chicks on Screen Representing Women's Intellect in Film and Television Laura Mattoon D'Amore brings together an impressive array of scholarship that interrogates the portrayal of females on television and in movies Among the questions that the volume seeks to answer are In what ways are women in film and television limited or ostracized by their intelligence How do female roles reinforce standards of beauty submissiveness and silence over intellect problem solving and leadership Are there women in film and television who are intelligent without also being objectified The thirteen essays by international interdisciplinary scholars offer a wide range of perspectives examining the connections and disconnections between beauty and brains in film and television Smart Chicks on Screen will be of interest to scholars not only of film and television but of women's studies reception studies and cultural history as well

Maslen,2025-07-08 As we live our lives hearing seems to be something that we simply have not something that we do Yet in a wide variety of occupations and activities people must develop their hearing skills to achieve proficiency How do people learn to hear This innovative book investigates strategies and techniques for honing hearing in medicine music outdoor adventuring and Morse code operation Sarah Maslen uncovers tricks of the trade and forms of communal assistance for crafting these largely unconscious practices She shows that hearing is far more complex than is often assumed and that it depends on competencies that extend beyond the ear In so doing Maslen explodes myths of genius and natural talent and the idea that certain skills are the province of particular kinds of people Overcoming the distance between insiders and outsiders requires access to the collective support that cultivates seemingly natural sense abilities Learning to Hear examines vivid and varied cases such as how doctors listen for a heart murmur how musicians build the skills to play along with others how adventurers sense dangers like melting ice or falling rocks while climbing and how telegraph operators develop a feel for Morse code A deeply original exploration of the cultivation of hearing this book offers a new approach to embodied experience Television and the Genetic Imaginary Sofia Bull,2019-05-30 This book examines the complex ways in which television articulates ideas about DNA in the early 21st century Considering television s distinct aesthetic and narrative forms as well as its specific cultural roles it identifies TV as a key site for the genetic imaginary The book addresses the key themes of complexity and kinship which function as nodes around which older essentialist notions about the human genome clash with newly emergent post genomic sensibilities Analysing a wide range of US and UK programmes from science documentaries science fiction serials and crime procedurals to family history programmes sitcoms and reality shows Television and the Genetic Imaginary illustrates the extent to which molecular frameworks of understanding now permeate popular culture

The Cinema and Its Shadow Alice Maurice,2013-03-15 The Cinema and Its Shadow argues that race has defined the cinematic apparatus since the earliest motion pictures especially at times of technological transition In particular this work explores how racial difference became central to the resolving of cinematic problems the stationary camera narrative form realism the synchronization of image and sound and perhaps most fundamentally the immaterial image the cinema s shadow which figures both the material reality of the screen image and its racist past Discussing early race subjects Alice Maurice demonstrates that these films influenced cinematic narrative in lasting ways by helping to determine the relation between stillness and motion spectacle and narrative drive The book examines how motion picture technology related to race embodiment and authenticity at specific junctures in cinema s development including the advent of narratives feature films and sound In close readings of such films as The Cheat Shadows and Hallelujah Maurice reveals how the rhetoric of race repeatedly embodies film technology endowing it with a powerful mix of authenticity and magic In this way the racialized subject became the perfect medium for showing off shoring up and reintroducing the cinematic apparatus at various points in the history of American film Moving beyond analyzing race in purely thematic or ideological terms Maurice traces how it shaped the formal and technological means of the cinema
