Politics, Identity, and Mobility in Travel Writing Miguel A. Cabañas, Jeanne Dubino, Veronica Salles-Reese, Gary Totten, 2015-06-26 This collection examines the intersections between the personal and the political in travel writing and the dialectic between mobility and stasis through an analysis of specific cases across geographical and historical boundaries The authors explore the various ways in which travel texts represent actual political conditions and thus engage in discussions about national transnational and global citizenship how they propose real world political interventions in the places where the traveler goes what tone they take toward political or socio political violence and how they intersect with political debates Travel writing can be viewed as political in a purely instrumental sense but as this volume also demonstrates travel writing's reception and ideological interventions also transform personal and cultural realities This book thus examines the ways in which politics material effects inform and intersect with personal experience in travel texts and engage with travel's dialectic of mobility and stasis In spite of globalization and efforts to eradicate the colonial vision in travel writing and in travel writing criticism this vision persists in various and complex ways While the travelogue can be a space of discursive and direct oppression these essays suggest that the travelogue is also a narrative space in which the traveler employs the genre to assert authority over his or her experiences of mobility This book will be an important contribution for interdisciplinary scholars with interests in travel writing studies global and transnational studies women's studies multicultural studies the social sciences and history

Arctic Cinemas and the Documentary Ethos Anna Westerstahl Stenport, 2019-02-18 A collection of essays analyzing the representation of the Arctic region in documentary films. Beginning with Robert Flaherty's Nanook of the North 1922, the majority of films that have been made in and about the Arctic region have been documentary cinema. Focused on a hostile environment that few people visit, these documentaries have heavily shaped ideas about the contemporary global Far North. In Arctic Cinemas and the Documentary Ethos, contributors from a variety of scholarly and artistic backgrounds come together to provide a comprehensive study of Arctic documentary cinema from a transnational perspective. This book offers a thorough analysis of the concept of the Arctic as it is represented in documentary filmmaking while challenging the notion of the Arctic as a homogenous entity that obscures the environmental, historical, geographic, political, and cultural differences that characterize the region. By examining how the Arctic is imagined, understood, and appropriated in documentary work, the contributors argue that such films are key in contextualizing environmental, indigenous, political, cultural, sociological, and ethnographic understandings of the Arctic from early cinema to the present. Understanding the role of these films becomes all the more urgent in the present day as conversations around resource extraction, climate change, and sovereignty take center stage in the Arctic's representation. Highly recommended. Choice A thorough exploration of the inexorable links between the circumpolar regions and historic and contemporary documentary filmmaking. It will be valuable to Arctic humanities specialists, particularly as a welcome addition to scholarship on visual depictions of the Arctic by authors such as Ann Fienup-Riordan, Richard Condon, Russell Potter, and Peter Geller, as well as Mackenzie and Westerstahl Stenport's earlier co-edited volume Films on Ice. It will also be of use to anyone interested in ways of studying linkages between filmmaking environments and local and outsider communities. Sarah Pickman, Yale University, H-Environment, January 2020.

Hidden in History: The Untold Stories of Female Explorers and Adventurers Danielle Thorne, 2019-12-30 In Hidden in History: The Untold Stories of Female Explorers and Adventurers, Thorne travel the globe and history. While it's fairly common to have women researchers, pilots, and captains in the 21st century, this was not always the case. Exploring and adventuring, even in the name of science and research, were privileged activities reserved solely for men. But some women just couldn't stay put, even when faced with the harsh resistance of those who favored the norm. These women broke with convention and trekked into the unknown, paving the way for women of today to seek adventure as they see fit. In 1766, Jeanne Baret performed botanical research as she made a complete voyage around the world, making her the first woman ever recorded to do so. Marguerite Hay Drummond Hay became the first woman to circumnavigate the globe from the sky when she flew around the world in a zeppelin prior to World War II. Louise Arner Boyd traveled to the Arctic in 1926, a hard journey even in modern times. Now we have women like Sylvia Earle, a world-renowned oceanographer and the first woman to walk on the ocean floor, and Barbara Hillary, the first woman of color to travel to both the North and the South Pole With this installment in the Hidden in History series readers can explore for themselves the exciting stories harrowing adventures and meaningful research conducted by these daring women No longer forgotten in the past the adventurous women of yesterday can once again inspire tomorrow's explorers to chart their own expeditions into the great unknown The Big Book of American Heroes Mike Janulewicz, Richard Widdows, 1998 Contains brief biographies of well known figures in American history such as George Washington John Glenn Frederick Douglass and Amelia Earhart

The Monorails of Mars Terry Walstrom, 2014-07-16 THE MONORAILS OF MARS In the manner of a Hitchcock film the suspense runs deep and the plot twists into the macabre and horrific Who is controlling the finest minds of genius on two worlds How will the invasion of Earth by Mars and of Mars by Earth bring about the desire of fanatics for Harmageddon What is behind the collaboration of Nikola Tesla and Thomas Edison to build an electric bridge Why are War Machines with Death Rays secretly manufactured by leading industrialists Who is the mysterious Ada who has walked the Earth from the time of Noah Why is a Las Vegas style religious theme park being built on Mars How did the son of the Lord of Apes become involved These and other suspense filled puzzles are examined and solved in a delightful and humorous look at mind control and religious delusion in an old fashioned pulp style romp through the 20th century alternate history in Science Fiction format READ THE MONORAILS OF MARS American Women of Science since 1900 Tiffany K.
