Enemies in the Plaza Thomas Devaney, 2015-04-03 Toward the end of the fifteenth century Spanish Christians near the border of Castile and Muslim ruled Granada held complex views about religious tolerance People living in frontier cities bore much of the cost of war against Granada and faced the greatest risk of retaliation but had to reconcile an ideology of holy war with the genuine admiration many felt for individual members of other religious groups After a century of near continuous truces a series of political transformations in Castile including those brought about by the civil wars of Enrique IV's reign the final war with Granada and Fernando and Isabel's efforts to reestablish royal authority incited a broad reaction against religious minorities As Thomas Devaney shows this active hostility was triggered by public spectacles that emphasized the foreignness of Muslims Jews and recent converts to Christianity Enemies in the Plaza traces the changing attitudes toward religious minorities as manifested in public spectacles ranging from knightly tournaments to religious processions to popular festivals Drawing on contemporary chronicles and municipal records as well as literary and architectural evidence Devaney explores how public pageantry originally served to dissipate the anxieties fostered by the give and take of frontier culture and how this tradition of pageantry ultimately contributed to the rejection of these compromises Through vivid depictions of frontier personalities cities and performances Enemies in the Plaza provides an account of how public spectacle served to negotiate and articulate the boundaries between communities as well as to help Castilian nobles transform the frontier's religious ambivalence into holy war

Beresford,Louise M. Haywood,Julian Weiss,2013 Professor Alan Deyermond was one of the leading British Hispanists of the last fifty years whose work had a formative influence on medieval Hispanic studies around the world Given Professor Deyermond s breadth of expertise the span of the essays is appropriately wide ranging chronologically from the thirteenth to the sixteenth century and covering lyric hagiography clerical verse narrative frontier balladry historical and codicological studies P 4 of cover Profit and Passion Nicole von Germeten,2018-04-06 Colonial documents and works of literature from early modern Spain are rife with references to public women whores and prostitutes In Profit and Passion Nicole von Germeten offers a new history of the women who carried and resisted these labels of ill repute The elusive ever changing terminology for prosecuted women voiced by kings jurists magistrates inquisitors and bishops as well as disgruntled husbands and neighbors foreshadows the increasing regulation criminalization and polarizing politics of modern global transactional sex The author s analysis concentrates on the words women spoke in depositions and court appearances and on how their language changed over time pointing to a broader transformation in the history of sexuality gender and the ways in which courts and law enforcement processes affected women The Problem of Woman in Late-medieval Hispanic Literature

Robert Archer,2005 This book argues that the problem of gender identity is vital to the large corpus of medieval Hispanic texts that discuss the nature of women What is a woman This book questions the persistent assumption that the large corpus of medieval Hispanic texts that discuss the nature of women can be defined in terms of the clichéd discourses of misogyny and defence of women arguing instead that the problem of gender identity is vital to them all The texts some well known others which have received scant critical attention are each discussed in their specific contexts and in relation to the ostensible reasons for their composition such as a political literary religious or didactic agenda They are also related to the literary traditions in which they are written misogynistic denunciation satire humour defence narrative debate among others and the particular theoretical problems arising from them are discussed But it is also argued that the full meaning of the texts lies at the less immediately accessible level at which they address this very problem of definition one which arises directly from the self-perpetuating contradictions of authoritative wisdom on the nature of women ROBERT ARCHER holds the Cervantes Chair of Spanish King's College London

A Cultural History of Sport in the Medieval Age Noel Fallows, 2022-08-31 A Cultural History of Sport in the Medieval Age covers the period 600 to 1450 Lacking any viable ancient models sport evolved into two distinct forms divided by class Male and female aristocrats hunted and knights engaged in jousting and tournaments transforming increasingly outdated modes of warfare into brilliant spectacle Meanwhile simpler sports provided recreational distraction from the dangerously unsettled conditions of everyday life Running jumping wrestling and many ball games soccer cricket baseball golf and tennis had their often violent beginnings in this period The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Sport presents the first comprehensive history from classical antiquity to today covering all forms and aspects of sport and its ever-changing social cultural political and economic context and impact The themes covered in each volume are the purpose of sport sporting time and sporting space products training and technology rules and order conflict and accommodation inclusion exclusion and segregation minds bodies and identities representation Noel Fallows is Distinguished Research Professor at the University of Georgia USA Volume 2 in the Cultural History of Sport set General Editors Wray Vamplew Mark Dyreson and John McClelland

In Praise of Song Cynthia Robinson, 2021-10-01 This volume offers a reconstruction of the court culture of the taifa kings of al Andalus 11th century AD using both visual and textual evidence A focus of particular attention is the court of the Ban H d at Zaragoza and that dynasty's palace the Aljafer a Principle written sources are not histories and chronicles but the untranslated poetic anthologies of al imyar and al Fat ibn Kh q n The first part of the book addresses taifa visual and literary languages with especial emphasis on connections between the literary and visual aspects of taifa aesthetics The sections on the Aljafer a s ornamental program will be of particular interest not only to historians of Islamic art but to students of all visual traditions with strong non figural components In addition Part One also proposes that taifa court culture has been considered as a culture of courtly love and this argument also forms the point of departure for Part Two The second part of the study uses luxury objects of Islamic and Limousine production as a point of departure for a detailed comparison of the thematics of taifa poetry in classical Arabic on the themes of courtly love and pleasures with those of the better known Proven al tradition

The Last Crusade in the West Joseph F. O'Callaghan, 2014-03-10 By the middle of the fourteenth century Christian control of the Iberian Peninsula extended to the borders of the emirate of Granada whose Muslim rulers acknowledged Castilian suzerainty No longer threatened by Moroccan incursions the kings of Castile were diverted from completing the Reconquest by civil war and conflicts with neighboring Christian kings Mindful however of their traditional goal of recovering lands formerly ruled by the Visigoths whose heirs they claimed to be the Castilian monarchs continued intermittently to assault Granada until the late fifteenth century Matters changed thereafter when Fernando and Isabel launched a decade long effort to subjugate Granada Utilizing artillery and expending vast sums of money they methodically conquered each Na rid stronghold until the capitulation of the city of Granada itself in 1492 Effective military and naval organization and access to a diversity of financial resources joined with papal crusading benefits facilitated the final conquest Throughout the Na rids had emphasized the urgency of a jih d waged against the Christian infidels while the Castilians affirmed that the expulsion of the enemies of our Catholic faith was a necessary just and holy cause The fundamentally religious character of this last stage of conflict cannot be doubted Joseph F O Callaghan argues

Frontier Memory: Cultural Conflict and Exchange in the Romancero fronterizo. Sizen Yiacyou, 2013-10-07 Scholarship on the late medieval and early modern Castilian frontier ballad has tended to fall into two distinct categories analyses which promote a view of the fronterizo corpus as an instrument of anti Muslim nationalist ideology in the service of the Christian Reconquest or interpretations which favour the perception of the poems as idealizing and distinctly Islamophile in their representations of Granadan Muslims In this study izen Yiacyou offers readings of the romances fronterizos that take into consideration yet look beyond expressions of cross cultural hostility or sympathy in order to assess the ways in which the poems recall a process of cultural exchange between Christians and Muslims An understanding of the relationship between the ballads their original social setting and the setting in which they achieved their greatest popularity provides the framework for this interpretation of the poems shifting cultural connotations Accordingly Yiacyou traces the evolution of their historical and cultural significance as they moved from their origins in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries when a Castilian frontier with Islamic Granada was still a reality into the sixteenth when this boundary vanished as part of the larger realignment of cultural territorial and political frontiers of the new Spanish
