Mercy Philbrick's Choice (Classic Reprint) Helen Hunt Jackson, 2015-07-11 Excerpt from Mercy Philbrick's Choice To one who found us on a starless night All helpless groping in a dangerous way Where countless treacherous hidden pitfalls lay And seeing all our peril flashed a light To show to our bewildered blinded sight By one swift clear and piercing ray The safe sure path what words could reach the height Of our great thankfulness And yet at most The most he saved was this poor paltry life Of flesh which is so little worth its cost Which eager sows but may not stay to reap And so soon breathless with the strain and strife Its work half done exhausted falls asleep II But unto him who finds men's souls astray In night that they know not is night at all Walking with reckless feet where they may fall Each moment into deadlier deaths than slay The flesh to him whose truth can rend away From such lost souls their moral night's black pall Oh unto him what words can hearts recall Which their deep gratitude finds fit to say No words but these and these to him are best That henceforth like a quenchless vestal flame His words of truth shall burn on Truth's pure shrine His memory be truth worshipped and confessed Our gratitude and love the priestess line Who serve before Truth's altar in his name About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      Mercy Philbrick's Choice Helen Hunt Jackson, 2013-09 It was late in the afternoon of a November day The sky had worn all day that pale leaden gray color which is depressing even to the least sensitive of souls Now at sunset a dull red tint was slowly stealing over the west but the gray cloud was too thick for the sun to pierce and the struggle of the crimson color with the unyielding sky only made the heavens look more stern and pitiless than before Stephen White stood with his arms folded leaning on the gate which shut off but seemed in no wise to separate the front yard of the house in which he lived from the public highway There is something always pathetic in the attempt to enforce the idea of seclusion and privacy by building a fence around houses only ten or twelve feet away from the public road and only forty or fifty feet from each other Rows of picketed palings and gates with latches and locks seem superfluous when the passer by can look if he likes into the very centre of your sitting room and your neighbors on the right hand and on the left can overhear every word you say on a
