The Masculine Century Michael Antony, 2008-05-28 Now that the Twentieth Century is behind us what made it what it was 200 million human beings killed by war totalitarianism and extermination programs What made the twentieth century the most murderous age in human history as well as the age that made the greatest advances ever in science and technology while art and serious music declined into abstraction non communication and grotesque hoaxes blank canvases old urinals cans of excrement and concertos consisting of four minutes of silence This book argues that the century was marked by an over masculinization of the Western mind leading to autism and psychopathic aggression and the eclipse of the feminine expressive emotional empathetic side of human nature Hence the unprecedented culture of total war and genocide and the totalitarian projects to raze the human past and start again which Modernism carried out in the arts Hence also the masculinization of sexual behavior as romance gave way to pornography and marriage to promiscuity the adoption by women of a male work role the decline of motherhood and family and the collapse of Western birthrates This is all traced back to the rise of two aggressive ultra masculine ideologies in the nineteenth century Darwinism and Marxism which gave birth to Fascism and Feminism These ideologies put violence conflict and aggression at the heart of life and changed human mentalities This book examines these developments through the literature and art of the past hundred and fifty years and discusses their implications for the future of Western Civilization The Cobra Movement in Postwar Europe Karen Kurczynski, 2020-07-12 This book examines the art of Cobra a network of poets and artists from Copenhagen Brussels and Amsterdam 1948 1951 Although the name stood for the organizers home cities the Cobra artists hailed from countries in Europe Africa and the United States This book investigates how a group of struggling young artists attempted to reinvent the international avant garde after the devastation of the Second World War to create artistic experiments capable of facing the challenges of postwar society It explores how Cobra s experimental often collective art works and publications relate to broader debates in Europe about the use of images to commemorate violent events the possibility of free expression in an art world constrained by Cold War politics the breakdown of primitivism in an era of colonial independence movements and the importance of spontaneity in a society increasingly dominated by the mass media This book will be of interest to scholars in art history 20th century modern art avant garde arts and European history

Categorical Versus Dimensional Models of Affect Ralph D. Ellis, Peter Zachar, 2012 One of the most important theoretical and empirical issues in the scholarly study of emotion is whether there is a correct list of basic types of affect or whether all affective states are better modeled as a combination of locations on shared underlying dimensions Many thinkers have written on this topic yet the views of two scientists in particular are dominant The first is Jaak Panksepp the father of Affective Neuroscience Panksepp conceptualizes affect as a set of distinct categories The leading proponent of the dimensional approach in scientific psychology is James Russell According to Russell all affect can be decomposed into two underlying dimensions pleasure versus displeasure and low arousal versus high arousal In this volume Panksepp and Russell each articulate their positions on eleven fundamental questions about the nature of affect followed by a discussion of these target papers by noted emotion theorists and researchers Russell and Panksepp respond both to each other and to the commentators The discussion leads to some stark contrasts with formidable arguments on both sides and some interesting convergences between the two streams of work
