The Cross Goes North Martin Carver, 2005 37 studies of the adoption of Christianity across northern Europe over 1000 years and the diverse reasons that drove the process In Europe the cross went north and east as the centuries unrolled from the Dingle Peninsula to Estonia and from the Alps to Lapland ranging in time from Roman Britain and Gaul in the third and fourth centuries to the conversion of peoples in the Baltic area a thousand years later These episodes of conversion form the basic narrative here History encourages the belief that the adoption of Christianity was somehow irresistible but specialists show the underside of the process by turning the spotlight from the missionaries who recorded their triumphs to the converted exploring their local situations and motives What were the reactions of the northern peoples to the Christian message Why would they wish to adopt it for the sake of its alliances In what way did they adapt the Christian ethos and infrastructure to suit their own community How did conversion affect the status of farmers of smiths of princes and of women Was society wholly changed or only in marginal matters of devotion and superstition These are the issues discussed here by thirty eight experts from across northern Europe some answers come from astute re readings of the texts alone but most are owed to a combination of history art history and archaeology working together MARTIN CARVER is Professor of Archaeology University of York

An Eoraip: Gaelic Ireland in Medieval and Early Modern Europe ,2025-08-14 Medieval and early modern Irish scholars thought of themselves as Europeans As an expression of territorial association this belief reflects both their familiarity with the geographical traditions of Antiquity and the integration of their society into economic cultural and political networks that spanned the continent But it was also an articulation of a perceived cultural affinity often denied in modern scholarship The chapters in this volume examine the many and various ways that Gaelic Ireland was integrated into the broader European world focusing on literature and learning real world politics economics and travel and questions of identity Contributors are Rachel Brody Michael Clarke Simon Egan Deborah Hayden Brendan Kane Victoria L McAlister Ken Donnchu Patricia Palmer Brian Stone and Patrick Wadden

Irish and Scottish Art, c. 900-1900 Heather Pulliam,Rachel Moss,2024-11-30 As evidenced by the famed Book of Kells and monumental high crosses Scotland and Ireland have long shared a distinctive artistic tradition The story of how this tradition developed and flourished for another millennium through survival adaptation and revival is less well known Some works were preserved and repaired as relics objects of devotion believed to hold magical powers Respect for the past saw the creation of new artefacts through the assemblage of older parts or the creation of fakes and facsimiles Meanings and values attached to these objects and to places with strong early Christian associations changed over time but their Celtic and or Gaelic character has remained to the forefront of Scottish and Irish national expression Exploring themes of authenticity imitation heritage conservation and nationalism these interdisciplinary essays draw attention to a variety of understudied artworks and illustrate the enduring link that exists between Scottish and Irish cultures Ireland's Archaeology from the Air Tom Condit,1997 A look at the uses of aerial photography in archaeology Photographs include prehistoric medieval sites The Anvil's Ring ,1996 The Smith - The Traditions and Lore of an Ancient Craft Frederick W. Robins,2023-10-31 This charming history of metalwork and blacksmithing features many traditional stories and folk tales surrounding the ancient craft Frederick W Robbins shares many customs traditions stories and historical anecdotes regarding ancient smithwork in this captivating volume The Smith is a wonderful book for those who are interested in blacksmithing and wish to know more about the folklore and myths surrounding the craft First published in 1953 The contents of this volume feature The Primitive Smith The Magic Metal Smith Clans and Castes Hephaestus the Smith God Wayland the Hero Smith The Magic Sword Gobha the Celtic Smith Ireland in Prehistory George Eogan,Mr George Eogan,Michael Herity,2013-10-16 The authors examine Irish prehistory from the economic sociological and artistic viewpoints enabling the reader to comprehend the vast amount of archaeological work accomplished in Ireland over the last twenty years The Early Development of Irish Society: the Evidence of Aerial Photography Edward R. Norman,John Kenneth Sinclair Saint Joseph,John Kenneth Sinclair St. Joseph,1969 The Archaeology of Celtic Art D.W. Harding,2007-06-11 More wide ranging both geographically and chronologically than any previous study this well illustrated book offers a new definition of Celtic art Tempering the much adopted art historical approach D W Harding argues for a broader definition of Celtic art and views it within a much wider archaeological context He re asserts ancient Celtic identity after a decade of deconstruction in English language archaeology Harding argues that there were communities in Iron Age Europe that were identified historically as Celts regarded themselves as Celtic or who spoke Celtic languages and that the art of these communities may reasonably be regarded as Celtic art This study will be indispensable for those people wanting to take a fresh and innovative perspective on Celtic Art Irish High Crosses Roger Stalley,1996 A study of the form function mystery of these Christian monuments scattered across Ireland

Metalworkers and their Tools: Symbolism, Function, and Technology in the Bronze and Iron Ages Linda Boutoille,Rebecca Peake,2023-11-30 12 papers by 22 authors from the Metools symposium Queens University Belfast 2016 aim to shine a spotlight on the tools of the metalworker and to follow their evolution from the beginning of the Bronze Age through to the Iron Age as well as the place held by metalworking and its artisans in the economic and social landscape of the period Craft Specialization and Social Evolution Bernard Wailes,1996-01-29 V Gordon Childe was the first scholar to attempt a broad and sustained socioeconomic analysis of the archaeology of the ancient world in terms that today could be called explanatory To most he was remembered only as a diligent synthesizer whose whole interpretation collapsed when its chronology was demolished There was little recognition of his insistence that the emergence of craft specialists and their very variable roles in the relations of production were crucial to an understanding of social evolution The interrelationship between sociopolitical complexity and craft production is a critical one so critical that one might ask just how complex would any society have become without craft specialization This volume derives from the papers presented at a symposium at the American Anthropological Association meetings on the centenary of Childe's birth Contributors to the volume include David W Anthony Philip J Arnold III Bennet Bronson Robert Chapman John E Clark Cathy L Costin Pam J Crabtree Philip L Kohl D Blair Gibson Antonio Gilman Vincent C Piggott Jeremy A Sabloff Gil J Stein Ruth Tringham Anne P Underhill Bernard Wailes Peter S Wells Joyce C White Rita P Wright and Richard L Zettler Symposium Series Volume VI University Museum Monograph 93 Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia ,1920 The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane,2012 This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries it offers students researchers and the general public a reliable up to date and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture
