Amavis, J. Smeets, 2013-10-22 Principles and Methods for Determining Ecological Criteria on Hydrobiocenoses is a collection of papers presented at the 1975 European Scientific Colloquium on Principles and Methods for Determining Ecological Criteria on Hydrobiocenoses held in Luxembourg This Colloquium aims to define a scientific basis for assessing the results of pollution on aquatic fauna and flora as well as the biological methods to be used in assessing the extent of such pollution This book is organized into four parts encompassing 29 chapters After a brief overview of a series of parameters for the specific uses of different water classifications and regional evaluation of water pollution this book goes on examining the ecological consequences of water pollution establishment of criteria and the ecological variable and their effect on aquatic fauna These topics are followed by a discussion of the value of aquatic plants in water quality characterization as well as the principles of the methods used The succeeding parts highlight the concepts and practical methods used in the biological monitoring of surface waters These parts particularly consider the benefits of using bioindicators and laboratory bioassays The concluding discusses a comparative study of biological ecological water assessment methods of water quality This book will be of value to environmental scientists engineers and researchers Acarid Phylogeny and Evolution: Adaptation in Mites and Ticks Fabio Bernini, Roberto Nannelli, Giorgio Nuzzaci, Enrico de Lillo, 2013-03-09 The words pronounced by Serge Kreiter during the meeting come to mind They could record exactly the situation of Acarology in Europe and in the World I think that in many European countries there are very few full time acarologists It is very rare to have new positions available And public money from the European Community but also from national countries is very hard to get when you want to work on mites Could two acarological associations in Europe Eur A Ac and S I A L F work together or better get married So the fourth symposium of the European Acarologists has not only been the occasion to have an idea on which direction the research is addressed today but also it pointed out the difficulties of our scientific branch On the basis of the presentations and invited papers we had evidences of a new Acarology based on modern techniques and methods of investigations but also the importance often sheltered even if of relevant value of the old Acarology made on the alpha taxonomy and basic studies So a new Acarology needs the old one In this context the hope to put together the European acarologists has been coming up This fact of political meaning can surely improve the acarological movement and the discussion on this point showed clearly the importance of several other activities and efforts in this direction We hope that the meeting in Siena will represent a significative stone for the progress of Acarology Archiv Für Hydrobiologie ,1925 Ecology of Streams and Rivers Eugene

Kane, Gary W. Yohe, 2000-05-31 Changes in climate and climate variability have an effect on people's behaviour around the world and public institutions have an important part to play in influencing our ability to respond to and plan for climate risk. We may be able to reduce climate risk by seeking to mitigate the threat on the one hand and by adapting to a changed climate on the other. Another theme of the book is the integrated role of adaptation and mitigation in framing issues and performing analyses. Adaptation costs fall most heavily on the poor and special attention needs to be paid to adaptation by the poorest populations. An integrating framework is also presented to provide the context for an expansive typology of terms to apply to adaptation. The 12 papers collected here use methods from a variety of disciplines and focus on different time frames for decision making from short term to the very long term. Readership: Technically trained readers familiar with the policy issues surrounding climate change and interested in learning the scientific underpinnings of issues related to societal adaptation.
