Masnavi i Ma'navi Jalāl al-Dīn Rūmī (Maulana), 1898

A History of Video Art Chris Meigh-Andrews, 2013-11-07 A History of Video Art is a revised and expanded edition of the 2006 original which extends the scope of the first edition incorporating a wider range of artists and works from across the globe and explores and examines developments in the genre of artists video from the mid 1990s up to the present day In addition the new edition expands and updates the discussion of theoretical concepts and ideas which underpin contemporary artists video Tracking the changing forms of video art in relation to the revolution in electronic and digital imaging that has taken place during the last 50 years A History of Video Art orients video art in the wider art historical context with particular reference to the shift from the structuralism of the late 1960s and early 1970s to the post modernist concerns of the 1980s and early 1990s The new edition also explores the implications of the internationalisation of artists video in the period leading up to the new millennium and its concerns and preoccupations including post colonialism the post medium condition and the impact and influence of the internet

Moving without a Body Stamatia Portanova, 2024-02-06 A radically empirical exploration of movement and technology and the transformations of choreography in a digital realm Digital technologies offer the possibility of capturing storing and manipulating movement abstracting it from the body and transforming it into numerical information In Moving without a Body Stamatia Portanova considers what really happens when the physicality of movement is translated into a numerical code by a technological system Drawing on the radical empiricism of Gilles Deleuze and Alfred North Whitehead she argues that this does not amount to a technical assessment of software s capacity to record motion but requires a philosophical rethinking of what movement itself is or can become Discussing the development of different audiovisual tools and the shift from analog to digital she focuses on some choreographic realizations of this evolution including works by Loie Fuller and Merce Cunningham Throughout Portanova considers these technologies and dances as ways to think rather than just perform or perceive movement She distinguishes the choreographic thought from the performance a body performs a movement and a mind thinks or choreographs a dance Similarly she sees the move from analog to digital as a shift in conception rather than simply in technical realization Analyzing choreographic technologies for their capacity to redesign the way movement is thought Moving without a Body offers an ambitiously conceived reflection on the ontological implications of the encounter between movement and technological systems Biblical Blaspheming Yvonne Sherwood,2012-09-06 Explores the persistence of blasphemy in modern secular democracies and examines ways of talking and thinking about the Bible Afterlives of Romantic Intermediality Leena Eilittä,Catherine Riccio-Berry,2015-12-24 Afterlives of Romantic Intermediality addresses the manifold even global artistic developments that were initiated by European Romantics In the first section the contributors show how the rising perspective of intermediality was discussed in philosophical terms and adapted itself to Romantic literature and music In the second section the contributors show how post Romantic writers visual artists and composers have engaged with Romantic heritage By exploring primary works that range from European arts to Latin American literature these essays focus on the interdisciplinary developments that have emerged in literature music painting film architecture and video art Overall the contributions in this volume demonstrate that intermedial connections or sometimes the conscious lack of such connections embody intriguing aspects of modernity and postmodernity The Spiritual Dynamic in Modern Art C. Spretnak,2014-10-22 This book demonstrates that numerous prominent artists in every period of the modern era were expressing spiritual interests when they created celebrated works of art This magisterial overview insightfully reveals the centrality of an often denied and misunderstood element in the cultural history of modern art Dialectical Conversions David Craven,Brian Winkenweder,2013-08-15 Few art critics in Western art history have ever had the broad ranging impact over several decades of Donald Kuspit a philosopher and psychoanalyst who from 1970 until the present has been a commanding figure on the international stage A student of German thinker Theodor Adorno under whom he earned the first of his three doctorates Kuspit introduced a new type of philosophical art criticism into the art world He drew on both phenomenology and Critical Theory before he then increasingly adopted psychoanalysis Since Kuspit himself has always measured his own place in the history of art criticism by how rigorously he engages with competing approaches this book is a searching survey of Kuspit s role in triggering several historic shifts within art criticism beginning with his now legendary 1974 article in Artforum A Phenomenological Approach to Artistic Intention Dense and demanding yet deft and incisive Kuspit s multi faceted art criticism has become world famous for reasons that artists critics art historians and philosophers from at least ten different nations explain from various points of view Divided into three parts and introduced by a lengthy introduction the book features comments by recognized artists like Rudolf Baranik Anselm Kiefer and April Gornik as well as critical commentaries by many scholars and critics from around the world on the richness of Kuspit's insights into art

Tales from Rumi, 2012-01-01 The Persian poet Rumi who wrote in the 13th Century has become increasingly popular today This selection comes from his monumental work The Mathnawi perhaps the longest mystical poem ever written containing 24 000 verses in rhyming couplets Thanks to E H Whinfield's translation and commentary these tales filled with Sufi wisdom insight and humor are wonderfully accessible to a wide audience

Rumour and Radiation Paul Hegarty, 2015-01-01 This is a book about video art and about sound art The thesis is that sound first entered the gallery via the video art of the 1960s and in so doing created an unexpected noise The early part of the book looks at this formative period and the key figures within it then jumps to the mid 1990s when video art has become such a major part of contemporary art production it no longer seems an autonomous form Paul Hegarty considers the work of a range of artists including Steve McQueen Christian Marclay Ryan Trecartin and Jane and Louise Wilson proposing different theories according to the particular strategy of the artist under discussion Connecting them all are the twinned ideas of intermedia and synaesthesia Hegarty offers close readings of video works as influenced by their sound while also considering the institutional and material contexts Applying contemporary sound theory to the world of video art Paul Hegarty offers an entirely fresh perspective on the interactions between sound sound art and the visual

The Masnavi I Ma'navi Maulana Jalalu-'d-din Muhammad Rumi, HEARKEN to the reed flute how it complains Lamenting its banishment from its home Ever since they tore me from my osier bed My plaintive notes have moved men and women to tears I burst my breast striving to give vent to sighs And to express the pangs of my yearning for my home He who abides far away from his home Is ever longing for the day he shall return My wailing is heard in every throng In concert with them that rejoice and them that weep Each interprets my notes in harmony with his own feelings But not one fathoms the secrets of my heart My secrets are not alien from my plaintive notes Yet they are not manifest to the sensual eye and ear Body is not veiled from soul neither soul from body Yet no man hath ever seen a soul This plaint of the flute is fire not mere air Let him who lacks this fire be accounted dead Tis the fire of love that inspires the flute I Tis the ferment of love that possesses the wine The flute is the confidant of all unhappy lovers Yea its strains lay bare my inmost secrets Who hath seen a poison and an antidote like the flute Who hath seen a sympathetic consoler like the flute The flute tells the tale of love's bloodstained path It recounts the story of Majnun's love toils None is privy to these feelings save one distracted As ear inclines to the whispers of the tongue Through grief my days are as labor and sorrow My days move on hand in hand with anguish Yet though my days vanish thus tis no matter Do thou abide O Incomparable Pure One But all who are not fishes are soon tired of water And they who lack daily bread find the day very long So the Raw comprehend not the state of the Ripe Therefore it behoves me to shorten my discourse Arise O son burst thy bonds and be free How long wilt thou be captive to silver and gold Though thou pour the ocean into thy pitcher It can hold no more than one day's store The pitcher of the desire of the covetous never fills The oyster shell fills not with pearls till it is content Only he whose garment is rent by the violence of love Is wholly pure from covetousness and sin Hail to thee then O LOVE sweet madness Thou who healest all our infirmities Who art the physician of our pride and self conceit Who art our Plato and our Galen Love exalts our earthly bodies to heaven And makes the very hills to dance with joy O Iover twas love that gave life to Mount Sinai When it quaked and Moses fell down in a swoon Did my Beloved only touch me with his lips I too like the flute would burst out in melody But he who is parted from them that speak his tongue Though he possess a hundred voices is perforce dumb When the rose has faded and the garden is withered The song of the nightingale is no longer to be heard

Confessional Video Art and Subjectivity Jaye Early,2025-01-23 This is the first book of its kind to examine the development of the confessional subject in video art and demonstrate how it can provide a vital platform for navigating the politics of self subjectivity and resistance in society In doing so it reframes video art the most ubiquitous and yet most understudied art form of recent decades as an urgent socio political tool that is increasingly popular among contemporary artists as a means of exploring a broad range of social issues from politics and identity to the body and technologies of self representation Analysing a diverse selection of case studies from the 1960s up to the present day covering the work of Yoko Ono Gillian Wearing Ryan Trecartin Tracey Emin Anatasia Klose and Heath Franco among others the book brings together theory and practice to look afresh at contemporary video art through a Foucauldian lens It also brings the analysis of video art up to date by showing how social media and digital self representation has informed and further politicized time based art practices Confessional Video Art and Subjectivity shows how forms of confessional discourse not only play an important function in the construction of subjectivity but also open spaces for personal resistance and agency within contemporary video art As a result it offers researchers of contemporary art practice and media and cultural studies an updated framework through which to view this constantly evolving genre and a deeper understanding of wider contemporary video practices

Culture as Capital Slavko Kacunko,2015-03-02 By following and reproducing the cultural turn the rhetoric of cultural mix and hybridism is disseminated today primarily in its crossing of trade barriers Cultures reduced to their exchange value function as capital an accumulative speculative and ultimately financial affair In some of its media and site un specific manifestations process art which aims to encompass both old and new media art seems to resist this pressure despite nonetheless not being protected from regulations and incorporations In the present collection of his recent essays Slavko Kacunko discusses the process art by crossing the disciplines of art history and comparative media visual and cultural studies As a first approximation several historiographical remarks on closed circuit video installations underline their importance as a core category of process art In the second part the problems of process art seen as a threshold of art history are further examined in another retroanalytical step in which concepts and objects related to mirror frame and immediacy are analyzed as the triple delimitation of visual culture studies In the third part previously outlined manifestations of what is termed the post visual condition are summarized and projected to the coreless core of the emerging art and research related to the coreless beings par excellence the bacteria
