Carolina has a rich and diverse history In 1901 the American Missionary Association hired a young woman Charlotte Hawkins Brown to teach at a small school in eastern Guilford County The school closed in 1902 and at the request of the local residents Brown remained and opened the Alice Freeman Palmer Memorial Institute which in later years became a world renowned African American preparatory school that educated children from the wealthiest families in the United States and six foreign nations Sedalia and the Palmer Memorial Institute traces the growth and development of a rural Southern community that made an impact on the nation Charlotte Hawkins Brown & Palmer Memorial Institute

Charles Weldon Wadlington,Richard F. Knapp,1999 She stayed for over half a century When the failing school was closed at the end of her first year Brown remained to carry on With virtually no resources save her own energy and determination she founded Palmer Memorial Institute a private secondary school for African Americans In the fifty years during which she led the school Brown built Palmer up to become one of the premier academies for African American children in the nation Of the hundreds of African American schools operating in North Carolina around 1900 only Palmer gained national renown outlasting virtually every other such school BOOK JACKET Scenes from the Palmer Memorial Institute

Second Edition Glenda Elizabeth Gilmore,2019-01-09 This classic work helps recover the central role of black women in the political history of the Jim Crow era Glenda Elizabeth Gilmore explores the pivotal and interconnected roles played by gender and race in North Carolina politics from the period immediately preceding the disfranchisement of black men in 1900 to the time black and white women gained the vote in 1920 Gilmore argues that while the ideology of white supremacy reordered Jim Crow society a generation of educated black women nevertheless crafted an enduring tradition of political activism In effect these women served as diplomats to the white community after the disfranchisement of their husbands brothers and fathers Gilmore also reveals how black women s feminism created opportunities to forge political ties with white women helping to create a foundation for the emergence of southern progressivism In addition Gender and Jim Crow illuminates the manipulation of concepts of gender by white supremacists and shows how this rhetoric changed once women black and white gained the vote Cumulative List of Organizations Described in Section 170 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954
