Sediments in Archaeological Context Julie K. Stein, William R. Farrand, 2001 Almost every artifact in archaeological analysis originates in or on the ground While there are elaborate methods for extracting and analyzing artifacts treatment of the matrix within which they are located is often unsophisticated and does not include systematic analysis Sediments in Archaeological Context concerns the analysis of this matrix and the potential use of sediments to answer archaeological questions Describing sediments and sampling them in appropriate ways do not replace the study of artifacts but they can provide additional useful information regarding a site complex its physical environment and the relations of artifacts to each other Each chapter in the volume considers sediments within a specific context Topics include sediments found in a variety of environments cultural environments rockshelter and cave environments dryland alluvial environments humid alluvial environments lake environments shoreline environments and spring and wetland environments Sediments in Archaeological Context is intended for every archaeologist who investigates sites in depositional contexts Archaeological Sediments in Context Julie K. Holliday, 2004-08-19 Soils invaluable indicators of the nature and history of the physical and human landscape have strongly influenced the cultural record left to archaeologists Not only are they primary reservoirs for artifacts they often encase entire sites And soil forming processes in themselves are an important component of site formation influencing which artifacts features and environmental indicators floral faunal and geological will be destroyed and to what extent and which will be preserved and how well In this book Holliday will address each of these issues in terms of fundamentals as well as in field case histories from all over the world The focus will be on principles of soil geomorphology soil stratigraphy and soil chemistry and their applications in archaeological research      Case Studies in Environmental Archaeology Elizabeth Reitz, C. Margaret Scarry, Sylvia J.
