Hammer and Hoe Robin D. G. Kelley, 2015-08-03 A groundbreaking contribution to the history of the long Civil Rights movement Hammer and Hoe tells the story of how during the 1930s and 40s Communists took on Alabama's repressive racist police state to fight for economic justice civil and political rights and racial equality The Alabama Communist Party was made up of working people without a Euro American radical political tradition devoutly religious and semiliterate black laborers and sharecroppers and a handful of whites including unemployed industrial workers housewives youth and renegade liberals In this book Robin D G Kelley reveals how the experiences and identities of these people from Alabama's farms factories mines kitchens and city streets shaped the Party's tactics and unique political culture The result was a remarkably resilient movement forged in a racist world that had little tolerance for radicals After discussing the book's origins and impact in a new preface written for this twenty fifth anniversary edition Kelley reflects on what a militantly antiracist radical movement in the heart of Dixie might teach contemporary social movements confronting rampant inequality police violence mass incarceration and neoliberalism A Fractured Society Gary Stuart De Krey, 1985 The Glorious Revolution marked the beginning of a politically turbulent quarter century in London as urban society became aroused and divided over such issues as the expansion of overseas trade the scale of continental warfare the emancipation of religious dissenters and the widespread political involvement of a newly informed public This work takes a fresh look at the origins and consequences of party conflict in late Stuart London and sets city politics in a national context De Krey also offers an in depth analysis of the particular make up and ideological transformation of each party Reign of Betrayal.
