Messages From Earth Nature And The Human Prospect In Alaska:

Messages from Earth Robert B. Weeden,1992 This text outlines a holistic approach to northern development in Alaska intended for both northern specialists and the lay reader interested in the applications of science and of traditional knowledge and lifeways Alaska Stephen W. Haycox,2020-04-09 Alaska often looms large as a remote wild place with endless resources and endlessly independent resourceful people Yet it has always been part of larger stories the movement of Indigenous peoples from Asia into the Americas and their contact with and accommodation to Western culture the spread of European political economy to the New World the expansion of American capitalism and culture and the impacts of climate change In this updated classic distinguished historian Stephen Haycox surveys the state s cultural political economic and environmental past examining its contemporary landscape and setting the region in a broader global context Tracing Alaska s transformation from the early postcontact period through the modern era Haycox explores the ever evolving relationship between Native Alaskans and the settlers and institutions that have dominated the area highlighting Native agency advocacy and resilience Throughout he emphasizes the region s systemic dependence on both federal support and outside corporate investment in natural resources furs gold copper salmon oil and offers a less romantic more complex history that acknowledges the broader national and international contexts of Alaska s past Arctic and Alpine Biodiversity:

Patterns, Causes and Ecosystem Consequences F.Stuart III Chapin,Christian Körner,2013-03-08 As human populations expand and have increasing access to technology two general environmental concerns have arisen First human populations are having increasing impact on the earth system such that we are altering the biospheric carbon pools basic processes of elemental cycling and the climate system of the earth Because of time lags and feedbacks these processes are not easily reversed These alterations are occurring now more rapidly than at any time in the last several million years Secondly human activities are causing changes in the earth s biota that lead to species extinctions at a rate and magnitude rivaling those of past geologic extinction events Although environmental change is potentially reversible at some time scales the loss of species is irrevocable Changes in diversity at other scales are also cause for concern Habitat fragmentation and declines in population sizes alter genetic diversity Loss or introduction of new functional groups such as nitrogen fixers or rodents onto islands can strongly alter ecosystem processes Changes in landscape diversity through habitat modification and fragmentation alter the nature of processes within and among vegetation patches Although both ecological changes altering the earth system and the loss of biotic diversity have been major sources of concern in recent years these concerns have been largely independent with little concern for the environmental causes the ecosystem consequences of changes in biodiversity These two processes are clearly interrelated Changes in ecological systems cause changes in diversity Conservation and Environmentalism Robert C. Paehlke,2013-04-03 Focusing on both problems and solutions this authoritative reference work maintains a healthy balance between science and the social sciences in its coverage of all aspects of the environment

The book is arranged alphabetically and is divided into three major sections Ecology Pollution and Sustainability The list of 240 contributors reads like a who's who of the world's leading conservation and environmental professionals Best Reference Source Outstanding Reference Source

Entangled Marilyn Sigman, 2018-02-15 Chronicling her quest for wildness and home in Alaska naturalist Marilyn Sigman writes lyrically about the history of natural abundance and human notions of wealth from seals to shellfish to sea otters to herring halibut and salmon in Alaska's iconic Kachemak Bay Kachemak Bay is a place where people and the living resources they depend on have ebbed and flowed for thousands of years The forces of the earth are dynamic here they can change in an instant shaking the ground beneath your feet or overturning kayaks in a rushing wave Glaciers have advanced and receded over centuries The climate like the ocean has shifted from warmer to colder and back again in a matter of decades The ocean food web has been shuffled from bottom to top again and again In Entangled Sigman contemplates the patterns of people staying and leaving of settlement and displacement nesting her own journey to Kachemak Bay within diasporas of her Jewish ancestors and of ancient peoples from Asia to the southern coast of Alaska Along the way she weaves in scientific facts about the region as well as the stories told by Alaska's indigenous peoples It is a rhapsodic introduction to this stunning region and a siren call to protect the land's natural resources in the face of a warming changing world

Politics and Environment in Alaska Alexander B. Dolitsky, 1993 This collection of papers reviews various questions of energy development subsistence economies native and European political systems and regulation of hunting and case studies of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge and of Tenakee Springs on Chichagof Island

Conservation and Environmentalism Robert Paehlke, 1995 Focusing on problems and solutions this authoritative reference work covers all aspects of the environment from the Everglades to the Himalayas from legislation in Australia to pollution problems in Eastern Europe from tropical rain forests to the Porcupine Caribou herd of the Alaskan and Canadian Arctic Some of the best known environmental professionals from 14 countries around the world have written original articles for this multidisciplinary Encyclopedia including Norman Myers Eugene C Hargrove Reed F Noss Max Oelschlaeger J Baird Callicott George Sessions M S Swaminathan Gilbert F White Michael E Kraft Michael P Cohen Paul Ekins and many others
