Sheffield has been synonymous with steelmaking since the eighteenth century and with cutlery for centuries before that But while it has an extraordinary variety of industrial buildings connected to its metal trades there is another side to what is England s least known big city Set amidst magnificent scenery it has some surprising survivals of its earlier history as well as handsome public commercial and religious buildings designed by its Victorian local architects The leafy western suburbs that rise towards the Peak District were described by Sir John Betjeman as the finest in England The 1950s and 60s saw the city famed for its innovative public housing university buildings and churches After the decline of its manufacturing sector in the 1980s major new venues for sport and entertainment the prize winning Peace Gardens and exciting new buildings such as the Millennium Galleries Winter Garden and Persistence Works are visible signs of a renaissance in the city s fortunes This is the first comprehensive architectural guide to Sheffield It describes the buildings of the city centre and those of the inner suburbs within a two mile radius of it It also covers the lower Don valley still the heart of Sheffield s steel industry the outer suburbs to the west where those who made their fortunes from it lived in splendour and there are excursions to some outstanding buildings on the outskirts Major buildings including the Town Hall the two Cathedrals and the Winter Garden are given more detailed treatment as are the two Universities The central areas are the subject of walks those further out have suggested tours by car Illustrated throughout in colour with specially commissioned photographs and with these images augmented by historic maps paintings and drawings Sheffield will enable residents to look at familiar buildings in a fresh light and encourage visitors to discover for themselves the city s enticing contrasts of industrial heritage and natural beauty

the construction of the Grand Trunk Railroad in the 1850s to Canada's purchase of Rupert's Land in 1869-70. He describes how some investors lobbied the British government for the policies that made Confederation possible, working closely with the Fathers of Confederation, many of whom were participants in the same trans-Atlantic crony capitalist system. British factory owners with classical liberal beliefs, however, disliked Confederation because they believed it would delay the political independence of the North American colonies, something they saw as beneficial.
