Metal-working in Borneo Jan Wisseman Christie, Victor T. King, 1988 An Economic History of Malaysia, c.1800-1990 John Drabble, 2000-05-15 An Economic History of Malaysia c 1800 1990 provides the first general history of the Malaysian economy over the past two centuries including a survey of the pre colonial era A unique feature is that it integrates the historical experiences of Peninsular Malaysia Sabah and Sarawak as a case study in the onset of modern economic growth Particular attention is paid to explaining Malaysia's signal success in achieving a relatively smooth shift away from the primary commodity export economy of the colonial period to near NIC status by 1990 Histories of the Borneo Environment Reed L. Wadley, 2022-07-04 In light of the tremendous changes that have come to the island of Borneo in recent decades this volume takes a detailed historical look at the Borneo environment from native colonial and national perspectives It examines change and continuity in the economic political and social dimensions of human environment interactions Reflecting the increasingly multidisciplinary nature of environmental history the book brings together an international group of historians anthropologists geographers and social foresters all looking through a historical lens at the environment in the Malaysian states of Sabah and Sarawak and the Indonesian province of Kalimantan and Brunei Drawing on extensive archival research and fieldwork these ten original contributions encompass eleven centuries of history on Borneo examining interrelated topics that include long distance trade conservation land tenure resource access property rights perceptions of the environment migration and development policy and practice The chapters in this volume are extensively revised versions of selected papers presented at an international seminar on Environmental change in native and colonial histories of Borneo Lessons from the past prospects for the future held in Leiden under the auspices of the International Institute for Asian Studies Borneo and Sulawesi Ooi Keat Gin, 2019-11-28 This book presents a great deal of new research findings on the history of Borneo the history of Sulawesi and the interrelationship between the two islands Some specific chapters focus on empires and colonizers including the activities of James Brooke in Sulawesi of Chinese mining communities in Borneo and of the quisling issue in immediate post war Sarawak Other chapters consider indigenous peoples and how different regimes have handled them The book is published in honour of Victor T King a leading scholar in the field of Southeast Asian studies and a final chapter discusses his contribution to scholarship in particular his views on how area studies should be approached and the implications of this for future research Early Modern Southeast Asia, 1350-1800 Ooi Keat Gin, Hoang Anh Tuan, 2015-10-08 This book presents extensive new research findings on and new thinking about Southeast Asia in this interesting richly diverse but much understudied period It examines the wide and well developed trading networks explores the different kinds of regimes and the nature of power and security considers urban growth international relations and the beginnings of European involvement with the region and discusses religious factors in particular the spread and impact of Christianity One key theme of the book is the consideration of how well developed Southeast Asia was before the onset of European involvement and how during the peak of the commercial boom in the 1500s and 1600s many polities in Southeast Asia were not far behind Europe in terms of socio economic progress and attainments

Raiding, Trading, and Feasting Laura L. Junker, 1999-09-01 As early as the first millennium A D the Philippine archipelago formed the easternmost edge of a vast network of Chinese Southeast Asian Indian and Arab traders Items procured through maritime trade became key symbols of social prestige and political power for the Philippine chiefly elite Raiding Trading and Feasting presents the first comprehensive analysis of how participation in this trade related to broader changes in the political economy of these Philippine island societies By combining archaeological evidence with historical sources Laura Junker is able to offer a more nuanced examination of the nature and evolution of Philippine maritime trading chiefdoms Most importantly she demonstrates that it is the dynamic interplay between investment in the maritime luxury goods trade and other evolving aspects of local political economies rather than foreign contacts that led to the cyclical coalescence of larger and more complex chiefdoms at various times in Philippine history A broad spectrum of historical and ethnographic sources ranging from tenth century Chinese tributary trade records to turn of the century accounts of chiefly feasts of merit highlights both the diversity and commonality in evolving chiefly economic strategies within the larger political landscape of the archipelago The political ascendance of individual polities the emergence of more complex forms of social ranking and long term changes in chiefly economies are materially documented through a synthesis of archaeological research at sites dating from the Metal Age late first millennium B C to the colonial period The author draws on her archaeological fieldwork in the Tanjay River basin to investigate the long term dynamics of chiefly political economy in a single region Reaching beyond the Philippine archipelago this study contributes to the larger anthropological debate concerning ecological and cultural factors that shape political economy in chiefdoms and early states It attempts to address the question of why Philippine polities like early historic kingdoms elsewhere in Southeast Asia have a segmentary political structure in which political leaders are dependent on prestige goods exchanges personal charisma and ritual pageantry to maintain highly personalized power bases Raiding Trading and Feasting is a volume of impressive scholarship and substantial scope unmatched in the anthropological and historical literature It will be welcomed by Pacific and Asian historians and anthropologists and those interested in the theoretical issues of chiefdoms

King, Zawawi Ibrahim, Noor Hasharina Hassan, 2016-08-12 This edited book is the first major review of what has been achieved in Borneo Studies to date Chapters in this book situate research on Borneo within the general disciplinary fields of the social sciences with the weight of attention devoted to anthropological research and related fields such as development studies gender studies environmental studies social policy studies and cultural studies Some of the chapters in this book are extended versions of presentations at the Borneo Research Council's international conference hosted by Universiti Brunei Darussalam in June 2012 and a Borneo Studies workshop organised in Brunei in 2012 The volume examines some of the major debates and controversies in Borneo Studies including those which have served to connect post war research on Borneo to wider scholarship It also assesses some of the more recent contributions and interests of locally based researchers in universities and other institutions in Borneo itself The major strength of the book is the inclusion of a substantial amount of research undertaken by scholars working and teaching within the Southeast Asian region In particular there is an examination of research materials published in the vernacular notably the outpouring of work published in Indonesian by the Institut Dayakologi in Pontianak In doing so the book also addresses the urgent matters which have not received the attention they deserve specifically subjects themes and issues that have already been covered but require further contemplation elaboration and research and the scope for disciplinary and multidisciplinary collaboration in Borneo Studies The book is a valuable resource and reference work for students and researchers interested in social science scholarship on Borneo and for those with wider interests in Indonesia and Malaysia and in the Southeast Asian region

Potter, 1995 This book describes the modern transformation of Borneo and the eastern side of the Malay Peninsula an area considered to be environmentally critical because of the massive deforestation that has taken place there since the 1960s The conclusions indicate that great dangers arise from national policies that continue to treat this region as a resource frontier despite its growing resource scarcity

The Most Offending Soul Alive Judith M. Heimann,1999-11-01 An English eccentric and adventurer Tom Harrisson 1911-1976 sought knowledge and renown in a dizzying number of fields while breaking most of the rules of civilized society He was a precursor in the field of modern market research he won the DSO for his World War II service in Borneo he led efforts to save the orangutan the green sea turtle and other endangered species he discovered the oldest modern human skull known at the time This hugely enjoyable story of Harrisson's extravagant controversial life offers a sympathetic and insightful look at a charismatic figure who offended as many people as he impressed at the twilight of colonialism on the fringes of the British empire

God and Gold in Late Antiquity Dominic Janes,1998-02-19 From the conversion of the emperor Constantine in the early fourth century vast sums of money were spent on the building and sumptuous decoration of churches The resulting works of art contain many of the greatest monuments of late antique and early medieval society But how did such expenditure fit with Christ's message of poverty and simplicity In attempting to answer that question this 1998 study employs theories on the use of metaphor to show how physical beauty could stand for spiritual excellence As well as explaining the evolving attitudes to sanctity decorum and display in Roman and medieval society detailed analysis is made of case studies of Latin biblical exegesis and gold ground mosaics so as to counterpoint the contemporary use of gold as a Christian image in art and text
