Painting as Metaphor Sarah Nind, 2010-04

The displacement of traditional axioms of visual arts by new media and technology has necessitated a rethinking of the format of the pictorial image Owing to the decline in value of the material art object as the necessary end of the creative process in contemporary art practices art is left adrift in seemingly infinite possibilities in structure aesthetic form and temporal space now unable to speak to the past or to the future Could it be that contemporary debates about the demise of the visual arts are in fact lamentations that highlight the anxiety of a society that has been separated from traditional structures of cultural identity into a flux of creative reorganization And is this creative shift while instigator of cultural angst and unease also an opening to new formats and potentialities offering new possibilities of what might constitute structure and materiality of the pictorial image Painting as Metaphor Rethinking Pictorial Structure and Materiality examines these questions Sarah Nind is a professional artist and a professor in the Faculty of Art OCAD University Toronto Canada and holds a PhD in Media and Communications from the European Graduate School Her photo based works have been exhibited nationally and internationally Collections include the National Gallery of Canada and the Canadian Museum of Contemporary Photography

Painting as an Art Richard Wollheim, 2023-10-17 One of the twentieth century's most influential texts on philosophical aesthetics Painting as an Art is acclaimed philosopher Richard Wollheim's encompassing vision of how to view art Transcending the traditional boundaries of art history Wollheim draws on his three great passions philosophy psychology and art to present an illuminating theory of the very experience of art He shows how to unlock the meaning of a painting by retrieving almost reenacting the creative activity that produced it In order to fully appreciate a work of art Wollheim argues critics must bring a much richer conception of human psychology than they have in the past This classic book points the way to discovering what is most profound and subtle about paintings by major artists such as Titian Bellini and de Kooning

Pictorial Metaphor in Advertising Charles Forceville, 2002-01-22 Over the past few decades research on metaphor has focused almost exclusively on its verbal and cognitive dimensions In Pictorial Metaphor in Advertising Charles Forceville argues that metaphor can also occur in pictures and draws on relevant studies from various disciplines to propose a model for the identification classification and analysis of pictorial metaphors By using insights taken from a range of linguistic artistic and cognitive perspectives for example interaction and relevance theory Forceville shows not only how metaphor can occur in pictures but also provides a framework within which these pictorial metaphors can be analyzed The theoretical insights are applied to thirty advertisements and billboards of British French German and Dutch origin Apart from substantiating the claim that it makes sense to talk about pictorial metaphors the detailed analyses of the advertisements suggest how metaphor theory can be employed as a tool in media studies Context in its various manifestations plays a key role in the analyses Furthermore the results of a small scale experiment shed light on where general agreement about the meaning of a pictorial metaphor can shade over into other more idiosyncratic but equally valid interpretations The final chapter sketches the ways in which the insights gained can be used for further research

Visual Metaphors Réka Benczes, Veronika Széldi, 2022-09-15 Whenever we think about the world including its concrete and abstract entities we typically see a series of so called mental images in front of our eyes that aid us in everyday problem solving and navigating ourselves in the world Visual metaphors similarly to their linguistic counterparts largely build on such images Nevertheless the interplay of metaphorical metonymical text and imagery is not necessarily and not usually straightforward and raises complex theoretical and methodological questions The eleven chapters in this collection address a wide range of such challenges such as what are visual metaphors in the first place how can they be identified what is their relationship to linguistic metaphors what are their most common manifestations what knowledge structures are required for their interpretation and how do they interact with metonymies The studies cut across linguistics politics philosophy poetry art and history highlighting the ubiquitous role that visual metaphor plays in everyday life and conceptualizations Originally published as special issue of Cognitive Linguistic Studies 7 1 2020

Krishna Sobti's Views on Literature and the Poetics of Writing Rosine-Alice Vuille, 2022-10-03 How does a writer discuss her creative process and her views on a writer's role in society How do her comments on writing relate to her works The Hindi writer Krishna Sobti 1925-2019 is known primarily as a novelist However she also extensively wrote about her views on the creative process the figure of the writer historical writing and the position of writers within the public sphere This study is the first to examine in detail the relationship between Sobti's views on poetics as exposed in her non-fictional texts and her own literary practice The writer's self representation is analysed through her use of metaphors to explain her creative process Sobti's construction of the figure of the writer is then put in parallel with her idiosyncratic use of language as a representation of the heterogeneous voices of her characters and with her conception of literature as a space where time and memory can be held At the same time by delving into Sobti's position in the debate around women's writing especially through the creation of a male double the failed writer Hashmat and into her views on literature and politics this book also reflects on the literary debates of the post-Independence Hindi literary sphere

Metaphor which allows us to talk about things by comparing them to other things is one of the most ubiquitous and adaptable features of language and thought It allows us to clarify meaning yet also evaluate and transform the ways we think create and act While we are alert to metaphor in spoken or written texts it has within the visual arts been critically overlooked Taking into consideration how metaphors are inventively embodied in the formal technical and stylistic aspects of visual artworks Mark Staff Brandl shows how extensively artists rely on creative metaphor within their work Exploring the work of a broad variety of artists including Dawoud Bey Dan Ramirez Ga lle Villedary Raoul Deal Sonya Clark Titus Kaphar Charles Boetschi and more he argues that metaphors are the foundation of visual thought are chiefly determined by bodily and environmental experiences and are embodied in artistic form Visual artistic creation is philosophical thought By grounding these arguments in the work of philosophers and cultural theorists including No l Carroll Hans Georg Gadamer and George Lakoff Brandl shows how important metaphor is to understanding contemporary art A Philosophy of Visual Metaphor in Contemporary Art takes a neglected feature of the visual arts and shows us what a vital role it plays within them Bridging theory and practice and drawing upon a capacious array of examples this book is essential reading for art historians and practitioners as well as analytic philosophers working in aesthetics and meaning
