Studies in Sacred Theology ,1929      The Metaphysics of Historical Jesus Research Jonathan

Rowlands,2015-10-15 In this book Rowlands interrogates the theological and philosophical foundations of the Quest for the historical Jesus from Reimarus to the present day culminating in a call for greater metaphysical transparency and diversity in the discipline This multidisciplinary approach to historical Jesus research drawing on historiography sociology philosophy and theology makes a significant and original contribution to the field Part I outlines the implicit role of metaphysical presuppositions in historical methodology by examining the concept of an historiographical worldview Part II provides an overview of the Quest for the historical Jesus demonstrating that the disparate historiographical worldviews operative in the Quest evidence a particular shared characteristic in that they might accurately be described as secular Rowlands study concludes with a call for a greater plurality and openness regarding the philosophical and theological presuppositions at work in historical Jesus research The Metaphysics of Historical Jesus Research is of interest to students and scholars working on New Testament studies and historical Jesus research      Columbia Companion to Twentieth-Century Philosophies

Constantin V. Boundas,2007 Columbia Companion to Twentieth Century Philosophies is the first guide to cover both the Anglo American analytic and European continental traditions Organized thematically the volume thoroughly discusses the major movements and fields of each tradition and features the contributions of highly distinguished specialists in their fields. This book is divided into three sections. The first is devoted to highlighting the multidimensional work of philosophers identified with the analytic tradition with Nicholas Rescher writing on neoidealism, Josephine Donovan commenting on feminist philosophy, Tyler Burge discussing the philosophy of language and mind, and Robert Hanna reflecting on Kant's legacy. The second section presents the thought of those who identified themselves with the continental tradition, featuring Jean Grondin on hermeneutics, Leonard Lawlor on phenomenology, Charles Scott on postmodernism, and Babette Babich on the philosophy of science. This volume also covers logical positivism, naturalism, pragmatism, aesthetics, existentialism, Marxism, the Frankfurt School, structuralism, psychoanalysis, political philosophy, ethics, and the philosophy of religion. The final section addresses concurrent trends in Indian, Chinese, Japanese, and African philosophy and a comprehensive introduction by the editor not only provides a thorough outline of the problems and issues of the analytic and continental traditions but also boldly challenges the conviction that the two approaches must be rivals.

Columbia Companion to Twentieth Century Philosophies is an invaluable overview of the ideas that have shaped a monumentally important century in the history of philosophy, offering an unusually panoramic perspective that allows readers to form their own interpretations of original materials.

The Metaphysics of Donald C. Williams A.R.J. Fisher, 2025-04-29

The thesis of this book is that Williams played a key role in the development and revival of analytic metaphysics. This book begins with an account of Williams' approach to philosophy given the rise of realism in the early twentieth century, with a focus on his use of induction and parsimony to argue for metaphysical theses such as metaphysical realism and metaphysical naturalism. It explains his critique of logical positivism and his defence of an empirical conception of metaphysics, which in turn reveals how he took himself to be standing up to rising anti-metaphysical trends. This book then expounds within the framework of his empirical metaphysics his one category trope ontology and its origins, arguing that his systematisation of the concept of an abstract particular or trope is his most novel contribution to analytic ontology. This book further presents an original interpretation of his account of concrete objects and abstract universals, engaging with current debates in the metaphysics of properties, sometimes defending Williams, sometimes correcting misinterpretations, sometimes critically reassessing his views. This book also explains his defence of the four dimensional manifold of time and his objections to competing theories such as the growing block theory and presentism incorporating recently posthumously published work in The Elements and Patterns of Being ed A R J Fisher 2018 with up to date references to the latest work in the metaphysics of time Lastly this book analyses Williams s influence on later philosophers such as Lewis and Armstrong and others in Australia drawing from correspondence between Williams Lewis and Armstrong and evaluates his place in the history of analytic philosophy concluding that he played a key role in the development and revival of analytic metaphysics
