Secrets of the Sands Harry Thurston, 2004 Amid a sea of sand in a part of Egypt so parched that decades pass between rainstorms a green island may contain the whole of human history It is called Dakhleh the everlasting oasis and it holds a rich trove of archaeological clues Over the course of a thirty year dig an international team of archeologists has discovered a perfect Old Kingdom town with buildings ranging from palaces to common bakeries the oldest monumental architecture in Egypt even older than the pyramids an archive of 10 000 papyri huge caches of mummies some still covered in ancient foil an entire Roman city and the world s two oldest books their pages of thin wood still bound together with age old string Perhaps most impressive of all is that these discoveries occurred in a single magical place where it is possible to trace human habitation back more than 400 000 years before the advent of modern Homo sapiens Dust jacket flap

Isis on the Nile. Egyptian Gods in Hellenistic and Roman Egypt , 2010-12-17 The diffusion of the cults of Isis is recently again intensively studied Research on this fascinating phenomenon has traditionally been characterised by its focus on L gypte hors d gypte while developments in Hellenistic and Roman Egypt itself were often seen as belonging to a different domain This volume tries to overcome that unhealthy dichotomy by studying the cults of Isis in Hellenistic and Roman Egypt itself in relation to developments in the Mediterranean at large The book not only presents an overview of the most important deities often based on new or unpublished material but also pays ample attention to the cultural processes behind Isis on Nile like relations between style and identity religious choice social and cultural memory and Egypt s view of its own past
