

A man with a shaved head and sunglasses is in the foreground, looking towards the camera. He is wearing a black t-shirt and has a green backpack strap visible. Behind him is a large, ornate, light-colored stone building with classical architectural features like columns and statues. A pink and white bus is parked on the street in front of the building. To the left, a person is riding a scooter. The sky is clear and blue.

Amelang, 2022-12-30 This book compares the theatrical cultures of early modern England and Spain and explores the causes and consequences not just of the remarkable similarities but also of the visible differences between them. An exercise in multi-focal theatre history research, it deploys a wide range of perspectives and evidence with which to recreate the theatrical landscapes of these two countries and thus better understand how the specific conditions of performance actively contributed to the development of each country's dramatic literature. This monograph develops an innovative comparative framework within which to explore the numerous similarities as well as the notable differences between early modern Europe's two most prominent commercial theatre cultures. By highlighting the nuances and intricacies that make each theatrical culture unique while never losing sight of the fact that the two belong to the same broader cultural ecosystem, its dual focus should appeal to scholars and students of English and Spanish literature alike as well as those interested in the broader history of European theatre. Learning from what one playground that is the environment and circumstances out of which a dramatic tradition originates reveals about the other will help solve not only the questions posed above but also others that still await examination. This investigation will be of great interest to students and scholars in theatre history, comparative drama, early modern drama and performance culture. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, 1857 Memoirs of an Eighteenth Century Footman John MacDonald, 2005 The memoirs of John Macdonald provide a rich panorama of life in the company of blind fiddlers, maid servants, the Scottish aristocracy, soldiers, historians, Oriental Princes, servants of the East India Company and men of great wealth. Literary Digest: a Repository of Contemporaneous Thought and Research as Presented in the Periodical Literature of the World Edward Jewitt Wheeler, Isaac Kaufman Funk, William Seaver Woods, 1917 The Lady's Magazine and Museum, 1837 The Lady's Magazine & Museum of the Belles-lettres, Music, Fine Arts, Drama, Fashions, Etc, 1837 Garcia the Centenarian and His Times Malcolm Sterling Mackinlay, 1908 Lost and Found In Spain Susan Lewis Solomont, 2019-03-26 In these pages Susan Solomont has shared an exhilarating story of the challenges and the special joys of representing America abroad which will inspire, educate and delight.
