European Research Reloaded: Cooperation and Integration among Europeanized States Ronald

Holzhacker, Markus Haverland, 2006-09-01 The Three Waves of European Research European cooperation and integration has continued to progress forward over the past five decades with an ever deepening impact on the member states The first wave of research into these processes concerned European integration the process of institution building and policy developments at the European Union EU level The second wave on Europeanization used integration as an explanatory factor in understanding domestic political change and continuity related to the EU What is now necessary is to link our understanding of these bottom up and top down processes of integration and Europeanization in the EU This book argues that a third wave of research on the EU is needed to adequately understand the increased interconnectedness between the European and national political levels We posit that this third wave should be sensitive to the temporal dimension of European integration and Europeanization In particular we seek to link the processes of European integration and Europeanization in a new way by asking the question how has Europeanization affected current modes of integration and cooperation in the EU Part I Europeanization of the Member States Preparing the ground for the third wave the first part of the book concerns Europeanization In order to fully understand the feedback of Europeanization on cooperation and integration it is important to analyze how European integration has had an impact on member states in the first place in particular indirectly beyond the direct mechanism of compliance with European policies

Greening of the European Union Jon Burchell, Simon Lightfoot, 2001-01-01 This book critically examines the European Union's developing relationship with the green agenda identifying links between the emerging pattern of green politics and patterns of EU policy making It examines why and how the environment has become such a significant part of the EU's activities and assesses the extent of the greening of the Union In particular it examines to what extent green politics have impacted upon the EU institutions its other policies and its progress towards sustainability In tackling these questions the book questions whether these aims can be effectively instigated given the underlying economic rationale that has been the driving force behind the EU's development so far

Collective Action in the European Union Mark Aspinwall, Justin Greenwood, 2013-09-13 Collective Action in the European Union addresses fundamental questions surrounding the European political economy The impressive array of contributors ask how and why collective action is formed at the European level They also consider whether collective action at the transnational level is driven by rational utility maximising behaviour or whether explanations couched in social terms are more convincing Many of the chapters introduce fresh empirical studies in the domains of business the professions consumers and environmental interests

A Geopolitical Europe in the Making? Marek Neuman, Ramses A. Wessel, Thijs de Zee, 2025-08-02 This edited book investigates whether and if so to what extent the European Union began to turn its recently uttered ambition of becoming a geopolitical Union into practice It does so by bringing a range of scholars from various institutions and disciplines among others political science European law European studies together asking them whether in their specific field they can observe a geopolitical turn in the European Union's policy making The result of this intellectual endeavour can be found in this book a book that makes a first attempt at empirically testing the Union's ability to effectively respond to ever and rapidly changing conditions for conducting international politics in a rule based system The volume is divided into two separate yet mutually informing parts Part I consists of a series of empirical chapters assessing the EU's actorness vis vis other regional powers regional and international organisations This is followed by several empirical snapshots looking into specific policy areas in Part II As we combine the insights from both parts we attempt to contribute to the debate on the changing nature of the European Union in challenging times Our approach then is primarily an empirical one And yet building upon these conclusions we are able to also draw conceptual conclusions about the EU's increasing geopolitical nature or the lack thereof These conclusions make this a relevant read not only for academics but also for practitioners of European law and European integration Marek Neuman is Assistant Professor in EU Foreign Policy and Jean Monnet Chair of European Politics and Governance at the Faculty of Arts of the University of Groningen The Netherlands Ramses A Wessel is Professor of European Law at the Faculty of Law of the University of Groningen The Netherlands Thijs de Zee is a PhD Candidate at the Faculty Campus Fryslân of the University of Groningen The Netherlands Chapter 3 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com

European Regulatory Agencies in EU

Decision-Making Christoph Ossege, 2016-01-06 European Regulatory Agencies ERAs have become increasingly important features in EU decision making They aim to provide expert advice independent of political or economic considerations This book explains whether and under what conditions ERAs comply with this scientific mandate Expanding on rational institutionalism Ossege provides novel insights into the behaviour of ERAs their autonomy from undue external influence and their impact on EU policy making The empirical comparison of three major ERAs the European Medicines Agency the European Food Safety Authority and the European Chemicals Agency not only shows that agencies capitalise on their expertise and rule making competences to protect their autonomy Rather in making strategic use of their expertise the ERAs also guard their autonomy in areas of high political salience though their policy influence in these areas is partially circumscribed Based on these insights European Regulatory Agencies in EU Decision Making locates its subject in the wider system of European Governance and considers the perennial question of how to reconcile the need for expert advice with democratic decision making

The Political Economy of European Social Democracy David J. Bailey, 2009-05-19 Presenting case studies from the UK France Sweden Spain Italy and the transnational Party of European Socialists this text provides a theoretically innovative explanation for the new social democratic turn to Europe It will be of interest to postgraduate students and academics studying researching social democratic parties
