Making Sense Of History Society Culture And Politics:

Making Sense of History Mushirul Hasan, 2003 Making Sense of History is a historian's exploration of the past and present. Some articles, essays, and interviews supplement his scholarly publications but most reflect Professor Hasan's present-day concerns. Thus he writes on 11 September on Palestine and on pogrom in Gujarat. He dwells on the rise of Hindu nationalism and Islamic fundamentalism and critically evaluates their cultural ideological resources. His is a story that resonates with ideas on the contemporary Indian scene. This book also devotes a section to some of the leading Western and South Asian interpreters of Islam. Without being apologetic about Islamic teachings, Professor Hasan engages with a wide range of topics of concern to contemporary Muslims in India and overseas. Covering a variety of themes including jihad, education, literature, and political thought, he clears up some distortions and misrepresentations about Islam and Muslim communities. Book cover

India and the British Empire Douglas M. Peers, Nandini Gooptu, 2017-02-09 South Asian History has enjoyed a remarkable renaissance over the past thirty years. Its historians are not only producing new ways of thinking about the imperial impact and legacy on South Asia but also helping to reshape the study of imperial history in general. The essays in this collection address a number of these important developments, delineating not only the complicated interplay between imperial rulers and their subjects in India but also illuminating the economic, political, environmental, social, cultural, ideological, and intellectual contexts which informed and were in turn informed by these interactions. Particular attention is paid to a cluster of binary oppositions that have hitherto framed South Asian history: namely, colonizer/colonized, imperialism/nationalism, and modernity/tradition, and how new analytical frameworks are emerging which enable us to think beyond the constraints imposed by these binaries. Closer attention to regional dynamics as well as to wider global forces has enriched our understanding of the history of South Asia within a wider imperial matrix. Previous impressions of all-powerful imperialism with the capacity to reshape all before it for good or ill are rejected in favour of a much more nuanced image of imperialism in India that acknowledges the impact as well as the intentions of colonialism but within a much more complicated historical landscape where other processes are at work. Swaraj and the
