Edwin Mellen Press, New York, 2005, pp. 216. ISBN: 0 77346 281 3

The man who was assassinated on February 19, 1965 in Harlem at the Audubon Ballroom was known as El Hajj Malik el-Shabazz after his Hajj to Mecca. He was born as Malcolm Little on May 19, 1925 in Omaha Nebraska, became Detroit Red on the streets of Harlem, converted to Islam in Norfolk State Prison in Massachusetts, applied for and received his "X", which represented his true African family name, from the Nation of Islam in Detroit after he had been paroled from prison.

Dr. Magnus O. Bassey describes the context of Malcolm's life and the will, intellect, perception, and emotional intelligence that enabled this man to transform himself from someone who thought this, "I believed that a man should do anything that he was slick enough, or bad and bold enough to do and that a woman was nothing but another commodity" (Haley, 1983, p. 134) to someone who Ossie Davis described this way in his eulogy,

Consigning these mortal remains to earth, the common mother of all, secure in the knowledge that what we place in the ground is no more now a man - but a seed - which, after the winter of our discontent, will come forth again to meet us. And we will know him then for what he was and is - a Prince - our own black shining Prince! - who didn't hesitate to die, because he loved us so. (The Official Web Site of Malcolm X, par 5)

Dr. Bassey uses several different prisms to view Malcolm X: the historical context of his life, the existence and consciousness of Blacks in American life, Malcolm's articulation of African American Consciousness, faith and consciousness, Malcolm X on human

Malcolm X and African American Self-Consciousness Magnus O. Bassey, 2005-01-01 This book argues that Malcolm X told African Americans to affirm their blooming sense of self and to assert themselves in their own uniqueness However he realized that the first route to African American affirmation of self was to awaken black self consciousness and he therefore called for black wide awakeness The book concludes that Malcolm X s call for a psychological return to Africa through a process of historical reconstruction was aimed at overthrowing the enslavement of African American thought and thereby setting African Americans on the path to freedom and human dignity Malcolm X's Michigan Worldview Rita Kiki Edozie, Curtis Stokes, 2015-06-01

The provocative debate about Malcolm X s legacy that emerged after the publication of Manning Marable s 2011 biography raised critical questions about the revolutionary Black Nationalist s importance to American and world affairs What was Malcolm s association with the Nation of Islam How should we interpret Malcolm s discourses Was Malcolm antifeminist What is Malcolm s legacy in contemporary public affairs How do Malcolm s early childhood experiences in Michigan shape and inform his worldview Was Malcolm trending toward socialism during his final year Malcolm X s Michigan Worldview responds to these questions by presenting Malcolm s subject as an iconography used to deepen understanding of African descendent peoples experiences through advanced research and disciplinary study A Black studies reader that uses the biography of Malcolm X both to interrogate key aspects of the Black world experience and to contribute to the intellectual expansion of the discipline the book presents Malcolm as a Black subject who represents symbolizes and associates meaning with the Black Africana studies discipline Through a range of multidisciplinary prisms and themes including discourse race culture religion gender politics and community this rich volume elicits insights about the Malcolm iconography that contribute to the continuous formulation deepening and strengthening of the Black studies discipline Studies in Modern American Autobiography Gordon O. Hull,2018-12-07 When I spoke at book signings for my first book I found that people in general knew very little about many of the African Americans that I had on the display board Thus this second book in The Black History Bowl series was written to make people aware of the contributions that African Americans have made to American and World history The African American history quiz that is included in the book is divided into eight 8 sections Each section begins with a worksheet The worksheet is followed by short biographies of the African American history contributors There is an answer sheet at the end of each section In addition note sheets have been included with each biography for you to use to take notes when researching and gathering information Additional information on each African American can be found on the web site that is listed at the bottom of the page after the biography Also included in this book is information on some points of interest that I think are important to the knowledge base of the average American The information includes the African American holiday of Kwanzaa the NAACP s Spingarn Medal and information on Juneteenth the actual day when all slaves were freed In addition this book includes a section for Women's History Month which highlights African American women from my first book. A timeline of African American history is also included. It is hoped that you will enjoy reading the book as you continue to enrich your knowledge of the contributions that African Americans have made to history. Dr. C. Sam Hull earned an Associate Degree in Education from Cumberland County College and further pursued his academic corridor to Glassboro State College (GSC) now Rowan University. Glassboro State College would continue Sam's educational tour leading to both a Bachelor's Degree and a Master's Degree. Armed with a Bachelor's in Elementary Education and Master's in Student Personnel Services and School Administration, Sam's educational path led him to Nova University where he achieved his ultimate goal of a Doctorate in School Leadership. Dr. Hull's achievements as an educational leader have been well documented through numerous contributions to the education field. Currently, Dr. Hull is a member of the New Jersey Association of School Administrators and Cumberland County Principals and Supervisors Association. Fairfield Board of Education enjoyed the fruits of this dedicated and committed educator for twenty-nine years. Dr. Hull retired June 30, 2004, after 33 years in education. A little-known black history fact is that Dr. Hull was Cumberland County's first black Superintendent of Schools. Dr. Hull enjoys writing books, reading, and traveling. In addition, Dr. Hull keeps busy by serving as a Clinical Teaching Supervisor for Fairleigh Dickinson University and Grand Canyon University, serving on the Cumberland County College Foundation Board, and as the Managing Member of his family-owned tutoring program for children in kindergarten through eighth grade.

American Politics and the African American Quest for Universal Freedom Hanes Walton, Robert C. Smith, 2015-10-16. This dynamic and comprehensive text from two nationally renowned scholars continues to demonstrate the profound influence African Americans have had and continue to have on American politics. Through the use of two interrelated themes, the idea of universal freedom and the concept of minority-majority coalitions, the text demonstrates how the presence of Africans in the United States affected the founding of the Republic and its political institutions and processes. The authors show that through the quest for their own freedom in the United States, African Americans have universalized and expanded the freedoms of all Americans.

Black Power, Yellow Power, and the Making of Revolutionary Identities Rychetta Watkins, 2012-01-03. Images of upraised fists, afros, and dashikis have long dominated the collective memory of Black Power and its proponents. The guerilla figure, taking the form of the black leather-clad revolutionary within the Black Panther Party, has become an iconic trope in American popular culture. That politically radical figure, however, has been shaped as much by Asian American cultural discourse as by African American political ideology. From the Asian African Conference held in April of 1955 in Bandung, Indonesia, onward to the present, Afro-Asian political collaboration has been active and influential. In Black Power, Yellow Power, and the Making of Revolutionary Identities, author Rychetta Watkins uses the guerilla figure as a point of departure and shows how the trope's rhetoric animates discourses of representation and identity in African American and Asian American literature and culture. In doing so, she examines the notion of Power in terms of ethnic political identity and explores collaborating and sometimes competing ethnic interests that have drawn ideas from the concept The project brings together a range of texts editorial cartoons newspaper articles novels visual propaganda and essays that illustrate the emergence of this subjectivity in Asian American and African American cultural productions during the Power period roughly 1966 through 1981 After a case study of the cultural politics of academic anthologies and the cooperation between Frank Chin and Ishmael Reed the volume culminates with analyses of this trope in Sam Greenlee's The Spook Who Sat by the Door Alice Walker's Meridian and John Okada's No No Boy
