Maussen, Floris Vermeulen, Michael Merry, Veit Bader, 2017-10-02 The European Convention on Human Rights guarantees freedom of education including the opportunities to create and operate faith based schools However as European societies become more religiously diverse and less religious at the same time the role of faith based schools is increasingly being contested Serious tensions have emerged between those who ardently support religious schools in their various forms and those who oppose them Given that faith based schools enjoy basic constitutional guarantees in Europe the controversy around them often surrounds issues of public financing degrees of organisational and pedagogical autonomy and educational practices and management This volume is about the controversies surrounding religious schools in a number of Western European countries The introductory chapter briefly analyses the structural pressures that affect the position of religious schools outlining the relevant institutional arrangements in countries such as Denmark Germany France Ireland the Netherlands and Scotland The following chapters provide a detailed analysis of the discussions and controversies surrounding faith based schools in each country Finally the two concluding chapters aim to provide a bigger comparative picture with regard to these debates about religious education in liberal democratic states and culturally pluralist societies This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education

Religion and Politics in the United States and Germany Dagmar Pruin, Rolf Schieder, Johannes Zachhuber, 2007 Current interest in the relation of religion and politics is intense in both the US and Germany Yet observers are regularly struck by fundamental divergences between approaches to and conceptualisations of this field on either side of the Atlantic This volume containing contributions by German and US authors from various disciplinary backgrounds seeks to offer some clarification by elucidating traditional and newly emerging differences between but also common challenges to these societies in issues such as pluralism of values religious education the role of religious minorities the relation of religion and elite formation and religious aspects of voting patterns

German Schools and Pedagogy Henry Barnard, 1861

Encountering Religious Pluralism in School and Society Thorsten Knauth, Religion in Secular Education Cathy Byrne, 2014-01-09 Cathy Byrne presents the secular principle as a guiding compass for religion in government schools in plural democracies Using in depth case studies historical and contextual research from Australia and comparisons with other developed nations Religion in Secular Education provides a comprehensive at times confronting analysis of the ideologies policies pedagogies and practices for state school religion In the context of rising demands for students to develop intercultural competence and interreligious literacy and alongside increasing Christian evangelism in the public arena this book highlights risks and implications as education develops religious identity in individual children and in nation states Byrne proposes a best practice framework for nations attempting to navigate towards socially inclusive outcomes and critical thinking in religions education policy

The Future of Protestant Religious Education in an Age of Globalization Hyun-Sook Kim, Richard R. Osmer, Friedrich Schweitzer, 2018 Global developments have come to shape our lives economically culturally and even religiously Young people growing up in a global age have to be prepared for living in this age Economic and technological demands are important but there also is a need for personal and social orientations that go beyond them This book provides both insights into the Protestant tradition in education as well as its meaning for the future of the church for society and for individual persons. It follows an innovative approach by combining perspectives from three different contexts: Germany with its important Protestant starting points in the Reformation, the United States as a country which has been strongly influenced by Protestantism, and South Korea with its comparatively young Protestant tradition. The book is based on a combination of international points of view on transnational cooperation, on comparative insights, and on making constant reference to a global horizon. Its presentations and ideas not only address globalization as a driving force behind many future developments but also demonstrate an exercise of global educational thinking.

Hyun Sook Kim is professor of Christian Education at the College of Theology, Yonsei University, Korea.

Field Trips to the Church, Ulrich Riegel, Katharina Kindermann, 2017

Visiting the local church is said to be a powerful case of participatory learning. Inside the church, the students have an actual multi-sensory encounter with Christian practice. Moreover, leaving the classroom to visit some artifact nearby is attractive and is said to raise the situational interest of the students. An empirical study on the effects of such field trips, however, is still missing. This volume addresses this research gap in religious education. It provides insight into the theoretical background, the empirical design and the results of a project about field trips to the local church in compulsory Catholic religious education in German primary schools. It draws a comprehensive picture of such effects by identifying the benefits of scholastic field trips as well as the obstacles of this didactic set up. The volume closes with a description of didactic principles and methods which help to improve scholastic field trips to the local church. Ulrich Riegel is Professor for Religionspädagogik am Seminar für Katholische Theologie der Universität Siegen.
