Published in the U.S.A. from 1940 to 1958 Belgian Information Center (New York, N.Y.), 1958 Exit Wounds Peter Godwin, 2025-04-08 Award winning writer Peter Godwin brings his moving The Sunday Times London voice to his latest memoir about his evolving relationships with the women and places that shaped his life Peter Godwin's mother is dying Born in England and having spent most of her adult life as a doctor in Zimbabwe she now lies on a hospital bed in the partitioned living room of his sister's London home Peter has spent his life missing his Zimbabwean childhood a longing that does not diminish as he reflects on his time as a journalist on the frontlines of combat around the world or life in New York with his English wife and transatlantic children In his mother's final months he must come to terms with everything his family was and wasn't the secrets they kept from one another the stoicism that sometimes threatened to destroy them and the beauty of the wildly different places they called home With generations of history behind him Godwin lyrically brings us into the spaces which make us question and suffer shows us how we can heal our own scars and celebrate the lives we have among family and friends Colonial Geography Matthew Unangst, 2022-06-29 Colonial Geography charts changes in conceptions of the relationship between people and landscapes in mainland Tanzania during the German colonial period In German minds colonial development would depend on the relationship between East Africans and the landscape Colonial Geography argues that the most important element in German imperialism was not its violence but its attempts to apply racial thinking to the mastery and control of space Utilizing approaches drawn from critical geography the book argues that the development of a representational space of empire had serious consequences for German colonialism and the population of East Africa Colonial Geography shows how spatial thinking shaped ideas about race and empire in the period of New Imperialism
