U.S. Latinos and Education Policy Pedro R. Portes, Spencer Salas, Patricia Baquedano-López, Paula J. Mellom, 2014-03-14 With the American dream progressively elusive for and exclusive of Latinos there is an urgent need for empirically and conceptually based macro level policy solutions for Latino education Going beyond just exposing educational inequalities this volume provides intelligent and pragmatic research based policy directions and tools for change for U S Latino Education and other multicultural contexts U S Latinos and Education Policy is organized round three themes education as both product and process of social and historical events and practices the experiences of young immigrants in schools in both U S and international settings and policy approaches to address their needs and situated perspectives on learning among immigrant students across school home and community With contributions from leading scholars including Luis Moll Eugene E Garcia Richard P Durán Sonia Nieto Angela Valenzuela Alejandro Portes and Barbara Flores this volume enhances existing discussions by showcasing how researchers working both within and in collaboration with Latino communities have employed multiple analytic frameworks illustrating how current scholarship and culturally oriented theory can serve equity oriented practice and focusing attention on ethnicity in context and in relation to the interaction of developmental and cultural factors The theoretical and methodological perspectives integrate praxis research from multiple disciplines and apply this research directly to policy

Invisible Children in the Society and Its Schools Sue Books, 2015-04-24 The authors in this book use the metaphors of invisibility and visibility to explore the social and school lives of many children and young people in North America whose complexity strengths and vulnerabilities are largely unseen in the society and its schools These invisible children are socially devalued in the sense that alleviating the difficult conditions of their lives is not a priority children who are subjected to derogatory stereotypes who are educationally neglected in schools that respond inadequately if at all to their needs and who receive relatively little attention from scholars in the field of education or writers in the popular press The chapter authors some of the most passionate and insightful scholars in the field of education today detail oversights and assaults visible and invisible but also affirm the capacity of many of these young people to survive flourish and often educate others despite the painful and even desperate circumstances of their lives By sharing their voices providing basic information about them and offering thoughtful analysis of their social situation this volume combines education and advocacy in an accessible volume responsive to some of the most pressing issues of our time Although their research methodologies differ all of the contributors aim to get the facts straight and to set them in a meaningful context New in the Third Edition Chapters retained from the previous edition have been thoroughly revised and updated and five totally new chapters have been added on the topics of young people pushed into the school to prison pipeline the environmental landscape of two out of school Mexican migrant teens in the rural Midwest the perceptions and practices in and outside schools that construct African American boys as school failures negative portrayals of blackness in the context of understanding the collateral damage of continued white privilege and working class pregnant and parenting teens efforts to create positive identities for themselves Of interest to a broad range of researchers students and practitioners across the field of education this compelling book is accessible to all readers It is particularly appropriate as a text for courses that address the social context of education cultural and political change and public policy including social foundations of education sociology of education multicultural education curriculum studies and educational policy

Non-Western Educational Traditions Timothy G. Reagan, 2004-09-22 This text provides a brief yet comprehensive overview of a number of non Western approaches to educational thought and practice Its premise is that understanding the ways that other people educate their children as well as what counts for them as education may help us think more clearly about some of our own assumptions and values and to become more open to alternative viewpoints about important educational matters The value of this informative mind opening text for preservice and in service teacher education courses is enhanced by Questions for Discussion and Reflection and Recommended Further Readings included in each chapter New in the Third Edition Chapter 2 Conceptualizing Culture I We and The Other is new to this edition It is a response to feedback about the problems inherent in our general discourse about culture and in addition provides an example of a culture that is near to us but nevertheless alien the culture of the Deaf World Chapter 9 which deals with Islam and traditional Muslim education has been substantially revised The subtitle of the Third Edition has been changed to Indigenous Approaches to Educational Thought and Practice reflecting not so much a change in the emphases found in the book but rather a recognition of the growing scholarly interest in indigenous peoples their languages cultures and histories Various points throughout the text have been expanded and clarified and chapters have been updated as needed

Pedagogies of Globalization Joel Spring, 2012-10-12 In this ground breaking book Joel Spring examines globalization and its worldwide effects on education A central thesis is that industrial consumerism is the dominant paradigm in the integration of education and economic planning in modern economic security states In the twenty first century national school systems have similar grades and promotion plans instructional methods curriculum organization and linkages between secondary and higher education Although there are local variations the most striking feature is the sameness of educational systems How did this happen How was education globalized Spring explains and analyzes this phenomenon and its consequences for human life and the future improvement of social and economic organizations Central themes include the elements of the educational security state and the industrial consumer paradigm in relationship to classical forms of education such as Confucianism Islam and Christianity and their concerns with creating a just and ethical society the role of the other in the globalization of educational structures as international military and economic rivalries spark competition between educational systems the transition from the Confucian village school to Western forms of education as exemplified in the lives of Ho Chi Minh and Mao Zedong the effect of the cultural and economic rivalry between the Soviet Union and the United States and its impact on schooling in both countries the rise of the educational security state in China the Soviet Union and the United States as these countries focus their educational efforts on military and economic development the evolution of progressive education as it appeared in revolutionary movements in South America Cuba Nicaragua and El Salvador the transition from traditional to Westernized forms of Islamic education against the background of European imperialism Arab nationalism and wars of liberation and the uneasy tension between Western educational ideals and Islamic religious values socialist education in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea current developments in educational security states such as China Japan the United States the new Russia and the European Union and the consequences of English as the global language and the global spread of the industrial consumer paradigm Readership for this book includes scholars and students in comparative international and multicultural education educational policy and politics historical social and philosophical foundations of education and curriculum studies It is a particularly timely informative engaging text for courses in all of these areas Studying Educational and Social Policy Ronald H. Heck, 2004-07-19 The purpose of this textbook is to introduce beginning researchers to the study of policy making how it has been examined from a scholarly perspective and the salient issues to consider in conceptualizing and conducting policy research Poverty and Schooling in the U.S. Sue Books, 2004-07-19 Poverty is an educational issue because it affects children's physical emotional and cognitive development Especially in current times taken for granted ideas about poverty and poor children must be scrutinized and reconsidered That is the goal of this book Poverty and Schooling in the U.S. Contexts and Consequences is in part a plea for educators and future educators to undertake the intellectual and emotional work of learning more about the social causes as well as the sometimes life altering consequences of poverty Although such efforts will not eradicate poverty they can help form more insightful educators administrators policymakers and researchers The book is also an effort to bring to the table a larger conversation about the educational significance of the social and legal policy contexts of poverty and about typical school experiences of poor children Poverty and Schooling in the U.S. Contexts and Consequences describes what teachers need to know or to understand about the contexts and consequences of poverty provides information and analysis of the social context of poverty examines the experience of many children and families living in poverty documents the demographics of poverty and offers a critique of the official U S poverty metric reports on continuing and significant disparities in school funding presents historical context through a broad brush review of some of the landmark legal decisions in the struggle for educational opportunity looks at some typical school experiences of poor children considers the consequences of the federal No Child Left Behind Act and offers suggestions about the kind of educational reform that could make a difference in the lives of poor children This book is fundamental for faculty researchers school practitioners and students across the field of education It is accessible to all readers An extensive background in social theory educational theory or statistics is not required

How Educational Ideologies Are Shaping Global Society Joel Spring, 2014-04-08 In this book Joel Spring explores three major international educational ideologies that are shaping global society neo liberal educational ideology human rights education and environmentalism Neo liberal ideology reflects a rethinking of nationalist forms of education as the nation state slowly erodes under the power of a growing global civil society Traditional nationalist education attempts to mold loyal and patriotic citizens who are emotionally attached to symbols of the state whereas the goal of neo liberal educational ideology is to change nationalist education to serve the needs of the global economy These changes are fueling a clash between the ideas of free market and consumer based neo liberals and those of human rights and environmental educators Human rights education is concerned with creating activist global citizens It is rooted in the idea that inherent in human rights doctrines is a collective responsibility to ensure the rights of all people Environmentalism is the most radical of the ideologies because it rejects the industrial and consumerist paradigm that has dominated most economic thought including capitalism and communism Spring synthesizes and analyzes the effect of these educational ideologies on shaping the future of the global society In the concluding section he compares the effect of these ideologies on global society with the possibility of a world divided between conflicting civilizations

How Educational Ideologies Are Shaping Global Society Intergovernmental Organizations NGOs and the Decline of the Nation State features a critical exploration of the transition of schooling from a function of the nation state to a globalized economic and political system a discussion of the major organizations and trading blocs shaping the future globalization of educational policies an analysis of the major competing global ideologies of education including national and corporate models that emphasize training workers for a competitive global free market the worldwide network of human rights and peace educators who are teaching a global set of ethics and the environmental movement s efforts to create a common set of educational standards for sustainable development and sustainable consumption and an exploration of the possible future of global educational policy and school organizations By integrating a wide range of previously scattered information within a bold new framework for understanding educational ideologies and their impact on the global society Spring raises important questions for researchers professionals and students in history and philosophy of education educational policy educational studies comparative education multicultural education curriculum studies critical media studies global studies human rights education and related areas Critical Social Issues in American Education H. Svi Shapiro, David E. Purpel, 2004-09-22 This text reader brings together powerful readings that critically situate issues of education in the context of the major cultural moral political economic ecological and spiritual crises that confront us as a nation and a global community It provides a focus and a conceptual framework for thinking about education in light of these issues Readers are exposed to the thinking of some of the best and most insightful social and educational commentators Critical Social Issues in American Education Democracy and Meaning in a Globalizing World Third Edition is intended to work on two levels First it helps readers to develop an awareness of how education is connected to the wider social structures of cultural political and economic life Second it encourages not only a critical examination of our present social reality but also a serious discussion of alternatives of what a transformed society and educational process might look like The editors goal is to deliberately engage readers in connecting the work of teachers to an ethically committed politically charged pedagogy The assumption on which they base the text is that educators must see their work as inextricably linked to the broader conflicts stresses and crises of the social world it is not otherwise possible to make sense of what is happening educationally What happens in school or as part of the educational experience reflects expresses and mediates profound questions about the direction and nature of the society we inhabit The text is organized thematically into five sections which address respectively social justice and democracy consumerism culture and public education marginality and difference moral and spiritual perspectives on education and globalization and education Each section is preceded by a brief essay that introduces the readings This Third Edition includes many new readings and addresses issues that have more recently emerged as especially significant such as concerns about the implications of globalization and the post 9 11 world commercialism violence and the ever increasing influence of high stakes testing This compelling text is relevant for a wide range of courses in educational foundations educational policy curriculum studies and multicultural education that address the social context of education cultural and political change and public policy The Great American Education-Industrial Complex Anthony G. Picciano, Joel Spring, 2013-05-07 The Great American Education Industrial Complex examines the structure and nature of national networks and enterprises that seek to influence public education policy in accord with their own goals and objectives In the past twenty years significant changes have taken place in the way various interest groups seek to influence policies and practices in public education in the United States No longer left to the experience and knowledge of educators American education has become as much the domain of private organizations corporate entities and political agents who see it as a market for their ideas technologies and ultimately profits Picciano and Spring posit that educational technology is the vehicle whereby these separate movements organizations and individuals have become integrated in a powerful common entity and detail how the educational industrial complex has grown and strengthened its position of influence This timely carefully documented well argued book brings together Picciano's perspective and expertise in the field of technology and policy issues and Spring's in the history and politics of education in a unique critical analysis of the education industrial complex and its implications for the future

Teaching for EcoJustice Rebecca A. Martusewicz, Jeff Edmundson, John Lupinacci, 2011-05-20 This text offers a powerful model for cultural ecological analysis and pedagogy of responsibility providing educators with information and classroom practices they need to educate future citizens for diverse democratic and sustainable communities

Wheels in the Head Joel Spring, 2012-08-21 In this popular text Joel Spring provocatively analyzes the ideas of traditional and non traditional philosophies from Confucianism to human rights regarding the contribution of education to the creation of a democratic society The goal is to explore how governments use education to control and manage their populations and to examine forms of education that claim to free people from authoritarian control A critically original work it is widely used as a text for courses on philosophical social political and historical foundations of education and critical issues in education Reflecting its global relevance a Chinese translation was published by the University of Peking Press in 2005 New in the third edition Expanded analysis of the use of education by authoritarian states Revisions to more clearly relate educational ideas to the theme of wheels in the head a phrase coined by philosopher Max Stirner to describe the use of schools by modern governments to control their citizens New sections on liberation education and on human rights education

Knowledge & Power in the Global Economy David Gabbard, 2017-07-05 Advancing a three fold political agenda this volume illuminates how the meanings assigned to a whole vocabulary of words and phrases frequently used to discuss the role and reform of U S public schools reflect an essentially economic view of the world contends that education or educational reform conducted under an economized worldview will only intensify the effects of the colonial relations of political and economic domination that it breeds at home and abroad and offers a set of alternative concepts and meanings for reformulating the role of U S public schools and for considering the implications of such a reformulation more generally for the underlying premises of all human relationships and activities Toward these ends the authors in Part I critically examine many of the most commonly used terms within the rhetoric of educational reform since the early 1980s and before Part II links today's economized worldview to curricular and instructional issues These essays are especially important for comprehending how the organization of school curriculum privileges those disciplines deemed most central to market expansion math and science and how the political centrality of the economic sphere influences the nature of the knowledge presented in specific content areas Given that language constrains as well as advances human thought the twin tasks of de economizing education and decolonizing society will require a vocabulary that transcends the familiar terminologies addressed in Parts I and II The entries in Part III cultivate the beginnings of such a vocabulary as the authors elucidate innovative concepts which they view as central to the creation of truly alternative educational visions and practices

Rethinking Family-school Relations Maria Eulina de Carvalho, 2000-10 This book addresses the complications and implications of parental involvement as a policy through an exploratory theoretical approach including historical and sociological accounts and personal reflection This approach represents the author s effort to understand the origins meanings and effects of parental involvement as a prerequisite of schooling and particularly as a policy solution for low achievement and even inequity in the American educational system Most of the policy and research discourse on school family relations exalts the partnership ideal taking for granted its desirability and viability the perspective of parents on specific involvement in instruction and the conditions of diverse families in fulfilling their appointed role in the partnership De Carvalho takes a distinct stance She argues that the partnership parental ideal neglects several major factors It proclaims parental involvement as a means to enhance and perhaps equalize school outcomes but disregards how family material and cultural conditions and feelings about schooling differ according to social class thus the partnership parental involvement ideal is more likely to be a projection of the model of upper middle class suburban community schooling than an open invitation for diverse families to recreate schooling Although it appeals to the image of the traditional community school the pressure for more family educational accountability really overlooks history as well as present social conditions Finally family school relations are relations of power but most families are powerless De Carvalho makes the case that two linked effects of this policy are the gravest the imposition of a particular parenting style and intrusion into family life and the escalation of educational inequality Rethinking Family School Relations A Critique of Parental Involvement in Schooling a carefully researched and persuasively argued work is essential reading for all school professionals parents and individuals concerned with public schooling and educational equality Reclaiming Education for Democracy Paul Shaker,Elizabeth E. Heilman,2010-04-26 Reclaiming Education for Democracy subjects the prophets and doctrines of educational neoliberalism to scrutiny in order to provide a rationale and vision for public education beyond the limits of No Child Left Behind The authors combine a history of recent education policy with an in depth analysis of the origins of such policy and its impact on professional educators The public face of these policies is separated from motives rooted in politics profit and ideology The book also searches for new insights in understanding the neoliberal and managerialist assault on education by examining the psychology of advocates who demonstrate a special animus toward universal public education The manipulation of public education by No Child Left Behind is a case study in the general approach to public institutions taken by the politicians and theorists in these camps K 12 education has been subjected to deceptive descriptive analyses marginalization of its professional leadership manipulation of its goals the imposition of illegitimate quality markers a grab on its resources by corporate profiteers and a demoralization of its rank and file This book helps us think beyond this new commonsense of education Recipient 2009 AERA Division K Award for Exemplary Research in Teaching and Teacher Education
